County, state politics heating up

By BILL WINTER
Editor

The political kettle is beginning to bubble, perhaps leading to 1980 trouble for the Democratic party apparatus here, and in Illinois and nationally. With Illinois heralded as a pivotal state for the presidential primary fight between President Jimmy Carter and Sen. Edward Kennedy, brother of the late Pres. John F. Kennedy, party members already are choosing up sides between the two.

Mayor Jane M. Byrne of Chicago, touted by some as being of vice-presidential timber, is putting all of her political eggs in the Kennedy basket after earlier flirtation with the Carter camp.

Kennedy brother-in-law Stephen Smith, national director of the unseated Carter effort, said at a fund-raiser in this state Tuesday that Mayor Byrne will run the "Teddy" vote campaign in Illinois. Both Smith and the Chicago chief executive assailed the president for alleged lack of leadership.

Sen. Kennedy has quoted Mr. Carter's past "malaise" comments and said the "present crisis of spirit in the nation" is the fault of the president, not the public.

Carter partisans, who so far have won every 1979 trial heat, say Kennedy's leadership is inadequate, such as in his long but unsuccessful Senate effort to enact national health care programs. The president's backers vow to set up rival political committees in every community and precinct.

Madison County Democratic politicians have the Carter-Kennedy conflict to ponder, along with a trend that saw several independents capture countywide elective offices in 1978.

They fear there could be more of the same in 1980.

Not all of the potential candidates have come forward yet, but there could be competition for coroner, auditor, recorder of deeds, state's attorney and other offices. County Auditor John Kravak is not expected to seek reelection due to health reasons.

"Topic A" after the presidential outlook is the post now held by State's Attorney Nicholas Byron of Edwardsville. The incumbent may run again, but Richard Allen of Granite City is

Government—it can be 'on your side'

Government often is thought of as too big or too cumbersome to respond to the needs of individuals or communities. But Illinois is taking steps to place government "on your side," a gathering of 150 was told last night by John W. Castle.

Director of the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Development, which began existence on Oct. 1, the DeKalb resident addressed the first in a series of four 1979-80 "business outlook" meetings of the Southern Division of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association. The dinner took place at the Missouri Athletic Club.

Castle at 6:30 tonight will speak at Charlie's Restaurant, Granite City, at a semi-annual meeting of the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission. Mayor Paul Schuler of Granite City heads the commission.

The speaker predicted last night that the new department of the state government will be more effective than its predecessor, the Department of Business and Economic Development, which he headed in its final five months.

Castle urged that Illinoisans emphasize positive aspects of their present business climate while also working to improve the climate.

He said points of concern include workmen's compensation, unemployment insurance and corporate taxes, and noted that firms like Caterpillar Tractor are looking to other states for new plant sites.

During a question and answer session, Castle said he fears the Illinois Supreme Court will disallow portions of the corporate income tax boost law, adopted by the General Assembly to replace the corporate personal property tax. If so, legislators are likely to be called into special session in December, he said.

The department director spoke glowingly of Illinois, noting ways in which it is unique or dominant in the nation and world.

GC will maintain Mockingbird Lane

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Granite City will assume the responsibility for maintenance and snow removal on Mockingbird Lane and all other streets marking the outside boundaries of the city, Nameoki Township Highway Commissioner Frank Mehelic and Granite City Street Superintendent Lionel Portell agree, but there still will exist some controversies as to which streets the city actually maintains which it does not, according to Portell.

Since, by law, Granite City and Granite City Township are co-extensive (share identical boundaries), annexations by the city automatically transfer the property into Granite City Township.

Mehelic said during Tuesday night's Nameoki Town Board of Trustees meeting that he received confirmation during the recent convention of township officials in Peoria that "when a co-extensive city annexes property from a township, it automatically takes the road touching the property."

The question of who is responsible for maintaining roads bordering recent Granite City annexations has been debated in the past by Mehelic and Portell, who now agrees with him will maintain streets on the outside boundaries of recently annexed property, including Mockingbird Lane.

However, Portell contends, Mehelic is attempting to assign responsibility for street maintenance to the city for streets which do not even touch recently annexed areas.

"Rock Road is one example. According to city engineers and attorneys, our annexation there last year did not even touch Rock Road," Portell said, adding, "We can't be responsible for it."

"On streets where a recent annexation may just touch a corner of a road, I don't feel we are responsible for that road. Just touching a portion of it does not bring the road into the city," Portell contended.

"We are not trying to shirk our duties. If we are responsible for maintaining a road, we will maintain it."

Granite City is another, but on roads where the engineers and attorneys tell me we have no jurisdiction,

I cannot maintain it," he said.

Irvin C. Slate Jr., attorney for Nameoki Township, told Mehelic he also researched the question at the convention and contended that co-extensive cities do assume the responsibility for roads touching the newly annexed properties, but do not annex railroad properties on the boundaries.

"I suspect the railroad lobby in Springfield will tell us so they do not have to pay city taxes," Slate said. However, he noted, the cities do annex any road crossings over the railroad tracks, and then become contiguous to the property on the other side of the tracks, should they decide to annex further.

Some age cards not checked—hearing

A hearing on a citation for revocation or suspension of the liquor license of the J & J Liquor store, 312 Maryville Road, was recessed at noon Wednesday until additional witnesses are located to testify further to evidence brought out in yesterday's two-hour session.

The hearing will be resumed at 9:30 a.m. Friday in the conference room of Mayor Paul Schuler.

The hearing involving the license of Mrs. Sara Stephens grew out of a Nov. 9 incident at the liquor store in which a clerk, Brenda Gail Stearns, 29, was arrested on a charge of making an illegal sale to a minor and the store was closed for several hours.

The clerk's arrest was made by police who said they saw a sack of beer sold to a person in a car who was not of legal age.

Four young women formerly employed at the store testified during the hearing yesterday that they personally checked identification cards for age when in doubt of the age of the customer.

All four of the witnesses said that

Mrs. Stephens who owns the J & J Liquor store and holds the license to the establishment was insistent that clerks make regular checks in all cases for evidence of age.

On the other hand, all of the young women said that Joe Stephens, husband of the owner, discouraged the practice when Mrs. Stephens was not around.

Brenda Stearns, the first witness, in a response to a question by Attorney Irvin Slate Jr., said she never had seen Mrs. Stephens make a sale to anyone

Granite City calls White House on Iran

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

A Granite City woman, outraged by seeing a U. S. flag burned by Iranian students during a television newscast Monday night, called the White House to protest.

Her action was believed to reflect the feelings of many Americans in recent days, as reports of the trouble in Iran were disclosed in newspaper stories and as scenes of rioting students there and others demonstrating here were viewed on television.

However, few took the initiative to call President Carter's home in person. Mrs. Larry (Linda) Atkinson, 2316 Cleveland Blvd., did.

"When I see my flag burned, I burn a little bit with it," Mrs. Atkinson told a White House spokesman in her call to Washington at 6 p.m. Monday.

She told the Press-Record that after viewing the Walter Cronkite telecast between 5:30 p.m. and 6 p.m. Monday, over Channel 4, a CBS affiliate, she was so incensed that she decided there and then to call the White House.

"I saw the Iranians rioting and burning dummies (effigies) of Uncle Sam and the Shah and it made me mad. Then, they burned the American flag and that really upset me," she said.

Mrs. Atkinson had managed to obtain the White House telephone number and for the first time decided to use it.

The call went through without any (Continued on Page 6)

Privacy on records of employees

A program to ensure the continued privacy of Bell System employee records through standardized practices will be implemented beginning Jan. 1, R. L. Humke, vice president, personnel for Illinois Bell, announced this week.

"All Bell companies currently have methods to safeguard personal information about employees," Humke noted, adding:

"This program will provide a consistent set of guidelines covering confidentiality of records as well as improving procedures for employees to review and, where appropriate, offer changes to those records."

"Our aim is to stay in the forefront of business organizations voluntarily undertaking to strengthen their practices relating to the confidentiality of employee records."

The Bell program, which covers almost a million employees, reflects increased public and Congressional concern for individual privacy. It seeks to ensure that company practices—pertaining to records containing personal information about employees—are in line with the recommendations of the Federal Privacy Protection Study Commission.

In its report to the president and Congress, the privacy commission made recommendations which affect the recordkeeping practices of private employers.

The commission said business should have the opportunity to comply voluntarily with these recommendations—a position urged by American Telephone and Telegraph and other major organizations such as the Business Roundtable and recently endorsed by President Jimmy Carter.

Here are the highlights of Bell's employee privacy program:

— Personal information about employees is to be kept accurate, complete, relevant and up-to-date and, when feasible, obtained directly from employees.

— Collection and retention of personal information about employees should only be for valid business, regulatory or legal requirements.

— Bell companies will keep employees informed through employee media of the kinds of personal information kept about them in company records.

— Upon request, employees may examine those records containing personal information about them and propose corrections, additions, deletions or changes. Because of its sensitive nature, a limited amount of personal information will generally not be made available for employee examination (e.g., certain personnel planning information).

— All company records containing personal information about employees will be held in confidence and properly safeguarded. Access to such information will be limited to those with a specific need to use the information in the regular performance of their jobs (e.g., payroll representatives).

— Bell companies will not disclose personal information about their employees to any individual or entity outside the Bell System except under limited conditions. For example, personal information may be released if an employee gives permission in writing, or to comply with valid legal process.

Train hits car at 19th crossing

In a freak accident at 19th Street railroad crossing at 9:15 p.m. Thursday, the left rear of an auto being driven west by Donna M. Flaughter, 2605 North St., was struck by an American Steel engine.

Mrs. Flaughter said she was half way over the crossing when the lights came on and a man started waving a stop sign at her.

She halted the car and saw a train stopped nearby and, believing that was the train for which she had been stopped, continued but was struck by another engine on another set of tracks.

Dave Deluca, a switchman, said he knew a guard was in the middle of the crossing and he waved on the train.

Guard Robert Stallings said Mrs. Flaughter's vehicle "kept creeping forward," so he motioned her to proceed across the tracks, but the vehicle kept up the creeping pace and was struck by the engine.

Two children were in the auto with Mrs. Flaughter. Apparently none suffered injury.

Two hurt when Jeep overturns

Only moderate injuries were sustained by the occupants of a Jeep, equipped with large tires and a roll bar, which overturned in the 2800 block of Wayne Avenue at 1:05 a.m. Sunday.

Terry L. Harris, 21, of 2941 Wayne Ave., the driver, told police he became momentarily distracted while driving south on Wayne and had to steer the four-wheel drive vehicle sharply to the left to avoid striking a parked car.

At that point, he said, the front wheels "cramped" and the vehicle rolled, turning over on its top.

Harris and his passenger, Rhonda Hall, 19, of 2437 Edison Ave., were treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where both had a series of X-rays taken and were released.

Harris was charged with careless driving.

Record month in county fines

State overweight fines were $41,539. The Illinois Commerce Commission received $440, and the Department of Conservation received $375 of the total fines collected.

Lawmakers want halt on N-plants

SPRINGFIELD — Construction licenses for new nuclear power plants in Illinois should be halted until federal programs have been developed for radioactive waste disposal, according to four legislators.

The four lawmakers included Sens. Jerome Joyce, D-Essex, and Don Wotens, D-Rock Island and D-Spring Valley and Tim Donovan, D-Decatur. The four represented Illinois at a recent Nuclear Regulatory Commission conference Sept. 25 in Seattle. The conference focused on the future decommissioning of nuclear power plants.

The legislators said they were sending a report to the NRC in which they were calling for a moratorium on starts of new nuclear reactors until the waste disposal problem is solved.

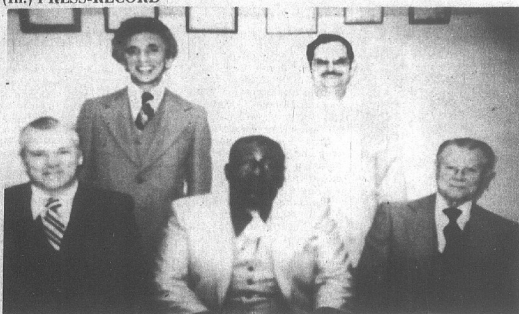

"It is the position of the Illinois delegation that the disposal of spent nuclear fuel — both high and low level wastes — must be treated as the No. 1 priority by all involved in operating and regulating the nuclear power industry in the United States," the four lawmakers said in their report to the NRC.

Despite the so-called guarantees from the experts that shipping the spent high-level nuclear fuel rods is safe, the lawmakers said they still had reservations. They pointed out that Washington's Gov. Dixie Lee Ray has issued an order stopping the import of low-level waste into the state.

She took the action, the legislators said, after it was discovered that a shipment of low-level waste from Commonwealth Edison's Dresden, Ill., plant was spilling some radioactive gravel.

"As more and more nuclear power plants are constructed and put into operation, the amounts of nuclear waste generated increases proportionately," the legislators said. They indicated they were planning to introduce legislation in the next legislative session to seek a ban on storing nuclear wastes.

said to be picking up broad-based support at a faster pace than had been anticipated.

Allen, 54, a former Granite City Democratic chairman but active in the independent wing of the party for many years, rather than with the regular wing, says the past seven years have brought a "drift into a state of inept and unmanageable confusion." Byron supporters defend present prosecution practices as enlightened and effective.

Allen is said to be garnering the good wishes of large numbers of lawyers. A possible cloud on the campaign's horizon, however, might be differences of opinion over how stringent a stand should be taken against industry on environmental matters.

Meanwhile, Victor Harnett, 40, of Edwardsville, threw his hat into the political ring today, saying he will oppose Congressman Melvin Price for the 12th Illinois District Democratic nomination in March.

A sociology instructor at Belleville Area College, he says, "Congress has failed to decrease deficit spending, solve inflation, tax windfall oil profits, and legislate for low-cost energy alternatives."

In addition to Darnell, Attorney Bruce Cook of Belleville has been making noises about jumping into the primary race against Price.

But the 18-term congressman, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, consistently overwhelms opponents of either party affiliation and is believed ready to seek a 19th two-year term.

East St. Louis Mayor Carl Officer says he regards Cong. William Clay of St. Louis as his congressman. But Cong.

Price is expected to shrug off such implied criticism and continue his successful pattern of prompt response to constituents' wishes and problems. Also announcing his candidacy this month is David A. Knochlauch of Wood River, a court bailiff who plans to oppose Circuit Court Clerk Willard V. "Butch" Portell in the Democratic primary March 18. He has an associate degree in business administration from Lewis and Clark Community College.

Madison County Republicans mainly are favorable to the candidacy of Ronald Reagan, former California governor, for the GOP presidential nomination.

They lack candidates at this time for some of the county-level offices to be decided, but say they hope to file a full ballot for primary nominations.

told them they did not have to worry about selling to minors because "I have everything under control."

They said he told them he had "taken care of things."

Slate specifically asked the witnesses who he had hired, money for the loans. On each occasion, the witnesses were shown a newspaper article published as a letter to the editor. Each witness was asked if she knew who might have written the letter.

Mayor Paul Schuler who issued the citation and called the hearing asked the witnesses if they had seen the public letter before and if they had any suspicions as to who might have written it. None of them said they did.

Paul Bailey, attorney for Mrs. Stephens, cross-examined the witnesses, particularly in regard to testimony about Mrs. Stephens insisting her clerks check identification cards for ages of customers.

He produced Ward Adams as a witness who bought the pack of beer for which Brenda Stearns was charged with selling to a minor. Adams said he is 20 and has bought beer at the store many times.

As the hearing progressed, City Attorney Lance Callis remarked, "There has been talk in this of bribery and corruption," and added he wanted to call Joe Stephens a witness. "I want him on record," Callis said.

Slate who represented the city in the questioning of witnesses said a time and date to continue the hearing will be set as soon as possible.

Elderly

tax relief

BY AL MANNING

SPRINGFIELD —

Although senior citizens actively lobbied at the General Assembly to override Gov. James Thompson's veto of the sales tax on food and drugs, many of them are, in fact, already reimbursed for sales tax expenses.

During calendar year 1978, for example, state government reimbursed persons ages 65 and over $27 million for sales tax expenses.

Under the law, persons 65 and over whose household incomes are less than $10,000 are eligible for grants averaging from $50 to $100.

The average reimbursement last year amounted to $80 per household.

The reimbursement system is tied to the better known property tax relief law called circuit breaker.

Under the circuit breaker law, officially called the Senior Citizens and Disabled Persons Property Tax Relief Act, a grant is based on a formula that weighs property taxes and income.

The state reimbursed 290,000 households a total of $56 million under that program, an average of $225 per household.

The sales tax relief program, officially known only as "additional tax relief," uses the same form, even though persons don't have to be property owners to qualify for the grant.

A senior citizen or disabled person who qualifies under both programs receives one check annually as a reimbursement.

State Rep. Dave Jones, R-Springfield, cited the history of the law when explaining his vote on the emotional sales tax issue.

Jones says the legislation was originally proposed in 1974 by then Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan. Although the law in its final form does not officially refer to the sales tax, Jones cites the debate on the floor by the House as proof of the law's intent.

Gerald Shee, then the Democratic leader in the House, said:

"This is a bill that would provide relief for the people of the state, our senior citizens and disabled people. And what it is attempting to do is to provide an amount of money in a grant form that would be the amount they spend on sales tax for food, clothing and other necessities."

The bill was amended and finally approved in 1975.

Jones cited the history of the bill because he says it is evident that most people, including the newer legislators, are not aware of the provisions.

Numerous senior citizen groups around the state lobbied strenuously in the last

Appeals are still in progress

The wheels of justice move slowly, a discussion with U.S. prosecutors in Springfield indicated this week as the federal government sought an appeal of six persons convicted of federal crimes in conjunction with an investigation into alleged governmental misconduct in Madison County.

The U.S. Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit, in Chicago, has jurisdiction over the cases for five of the six persons and sentenced them to prison. The sixth is former Sheriff John Maeras of Madison, who has been granted an indefinite postponement of sentencing because doctors and his attorney certified he is suffering from terminal cancer.

His former chief of field operations in the sheriff's department, John M. Cooper of Granite City, has obtained an extension of time in the U.S. Court of Appeals for filing defense briefs on his behalf, and the government will be given time to file its answers to the defense briefs. Prosecutors said they do not expect any action by the Appellate Court in his case for at least a month. Cooper has been sentenced to serve 15 years in a federal prison after he and Maeras were found guilty of 23 counts of a federal racketeering indictment. The jury verdict was returned Feb. 25.

Fund-raiser Leland Stoller of Nashville, Tenn., who has been sentenced to a three-year prison sentence after being found guilty of one count of racketeering and 18 counts of fraud, has his case linked with Cooper's in the U.S. Court of Appeals, so prosecutors do not expect any action in that case until Cooper's briefs are filed. Attorneys for Stoller already have filed their defense briefs, the federal officials said.

Maeras, Stoller and Cooper were tried jointly in U.S. District Court in Alton before District Judge J. Waldo Ackerman.

That trial followed the July 5, 1978, conviction of three former Madison policemen, Ronald Grzywacz, Edward Goclan and Richard Krieschok, on racketeering charges.

Grzywacz to serve 12 years in prison and Goclan and Krieschok to serve seven years after they were found guilty of one count of conspiracy to violate the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations statute (RICO), and one count of giving false statements before a federal grand jury on participation in a scheme to solicit and accept bribes from tavern operators in the city of Madison from 1970 to 1974.

Grzywacz and Krieschok appealed their convictions to the Appeals Court in Chicago; it affirmed their convictions this August on a two-to-one vote of the three-judge panel. They have filed a motion for a rehearing and may request that all the judges in the Appeals Court participate in the decision, prosecutors predicted.

They have announced they will appeal the decision to the U.S. Supreme Court, if they lose at the Appeals Court level, since they are the first federal policemen ever charged with racketeering, making their a potential test case for the Supreme Court.

Links to several agencies through three local centers

Establishment of three multiple-agency Tri-Cities Area United Way centers is helping expand and improve community service programs here, Paul J. Costello, TC-AUW president, said this week.

The community service centers include furniture and clothing exchange arrangements, links with "food pantry" programs to assist those in need, information and counseling.

Locations are: 3939 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach; 1254 Niedringhaus Ave., Granite

City; and 406 Madison Ave., Madison. They are reached through two telephone numbers, 876-2383 and 877-6780.

Mrs. Jo Meyer, president of Coordinated Youth Services, praised inter-agency voluntary cooperation as helping United Way give services to the individuals and families that can utilize them.

C. A. MacMillan, CVS executive director, added that coordination of existing services has enhanced the help that is being provided. He cited as dividends greater inter-agency staff contact, joint development of work programs and service goals, regular planning and review procedures, broader and more precise staff knowledge of other agencies, better information and referral methods, data sharing, more use of common forms, in-service training, extended service hours, elimination of some unnecessary client forms and interviews, and greater flexibility.

News notes Name sought for fire auto

To help check the power of state bureaus, Illinois legislators in 1977 created their own bureaucracy. But its staff has grown from six to 26 and its yearly budget from $250,000 to $570,000. The "policing" unit, known as the Joint Committee on Administrative Rules, wasn't told to be a watchdog of its own activities.

Governor James R. Thompson this week urged Illinoisans to redouble their gasoline conservation efforts, and also reminded state police to crack down on speeders. He is vacationing in Florida but will meet with Pres. Carter tomorrow on Iran's holding of American Embassy personnel as hostages, and the impact on U.S. fuel supplies.

The Metro East Sanitary District has decided not to appeal a state ruling cutting its request for disaster aid to repair sewers and levees damaged by spring flooding.

Illinois Democrats will pick 179 national nominating convention delegates, including seven from the 2nd Congressional District, plus three alternates from this district. Applicants from here filing Jan. 9-16 will require 406 petition signatures.

The Madison police have used a VW known as "Sgt. Otto," the creation of Chief of Police Donald L. Bridick, for several years to teach children good safety habits.

CABLE TV is almost a reality in Granite City with the target date for the beginning of service in some areas late January or mid-February. Top left — Using a large hydraulic arm, commonly known as a "cherry picker," Danny Clark, an employee of the Argus Cable TV Construction Co., installs a steel cable from which the 180 miles of TV transmission line will be suspended. More than half of the support cable planned here has been installed. Small fire truck given to Madison

The Madison Fire department has accepted a fire truck from the Consolidated Aluminum Corporation and is doing some minor repairs to the body before the truck receives a new paint job. The unusual thing about this truck is that it is a 1958 GMC built by the Tower Company and has only 1,500 miles on it. The truck is only slightly bigger than a pickup truck but has a 250 gallon water supply plus hose. Everything works, according to James Buckels, plant security officer. "We have been starting it every morning, making periodic checks of the equipment and occasionally running it on a highway. It works fine," Buckels said. Madison Fire Chief Eldon Rhoads said the truck will be used for a number of tasks, such as weed and trash fires. The smaller truck will also be able to get closer to some fires than the large equipment, he added.

CAMPER IS LOOTED Items valued at about $450 were stolen from the truck camper of Frank Woods, 2404 Sunbury Ave., parked at Rowland Lanes on Route 203 at Maryville Road, between 6:15 and 10 p.m. Tuesday. Taken were a tool box and mechanic's tools and the spare tire and wheel.

Baker stays on—and wins

By PETE HAYES

Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY — When you've won as many state soccer championships as Gene Baker has at Granite City South High, anything less almost seems to be considered a losing season.

"He's a great coach," said South all-state defender Jack Burnett, who has started on all four South title teams. "I guess when younger players try out for the team, they start thinking state championship from the time they get here."

Obviously, the young Warriors have gotten the message.

When South won its fourth consecutive state title last weekend in Palatine, it didn't come as much of a surprise to the soccer fans of the Chicago area teams. After all, South has sort of made the State Tournament its own. But the team that won this year's big trophy was as different from last year's as that one was from the 1977 edition. Each state championship team has been different from the others.

"In 1976, we sort of surprised everyone," said Baker. "Then in '77, we were supposed to win it."

"Last year I guess we sort of pulled a surprise on them. This year, we came out of the woodwork."

That South has accomplished the same goal with different players the last four years is a credit to the thing that has remained constant: the coaching staff.

Baker and assistant coach

Mel Bunting are able to adapt to the talent they have at their disposal. And in a town such as Granite City, where soccer is an institution, the talent is considerable. But the strengths of teams differ from year to year in high school athletics.

While one year's team may rely on the offense to get most of the job done, another may count heavily on its defense. In 1976 and '77, the Warriors' strength was in their scoring. With guns like Mark and David Goldschmidt and Greg Feigl, opposing teams found themselves playing catch-up much of the time.

But this season, South didn't have the big guns. Because of injuries, a makeshift Warriors lineup took the field many times. So the South defense came to the forefront.

"We have an excellent defense," said Baker after his team beat Collinsville 5-0 in the Sectional Tournament. "Many times it could be overlooked."

It wasn't overlooked in the state finals. In fact, the Warriors baffled foes with their defense. They tied the record for allowing the fewest shots in the three-game meet. The 21 allowed equaled the 1977 champs' mark. But the South offense suddenly came to life, setting a record for most scored—12.

"A lot of it has to do with tradition," said Baker. "But that also means everyone is gunning for us."

In the locker room following South's 2-0 semifinal win over Hickley-Big Rock, Baker and his team didn't celebrate. They prepared. While fans celebrated at the team's motel before the title game, the players rested—and prepared.

"They're business-like about it," said Baker. "When (Continued on Page 10)

Madison smacks Devils

FREEBURG — The Madison Trojanette volleyball team could have been caught looking ahead to a shot at top-seeded Freeburg here last night, but they weren't.

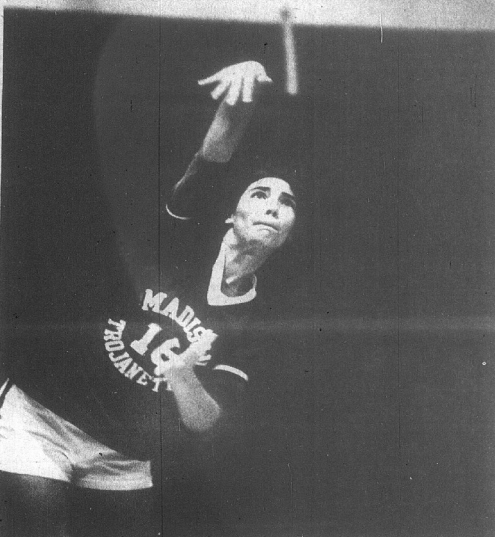

Madison rolled over rival Venice in two games—20-4 and 20-5 in the first round of the Freeburg Class A District volleyball tournament. The win means that Madison (16-4) will face the host team today at 7:30 p.m. in a semifinal match. The other semifinal will see Wesclin against second-seeded Lebanon. The championship match will be Friday. Freeburg and Lebanon received first round byes, while Wesclin had to face East St. Louis Assumption in its first round match.

"Things went about the way I thought they would," said Madison coach Carol Stearns. "Even though we were in total control, we still needed the match to get us tuned for Freeburg."

"We've wanted a shot at Freeburg all season. They're one of the top teams in the area and I think we can knock them off."

It was the third time this season Madison had defeated Venice. The match, despite starting five minutes late at 6:53, was over by 7:15.

"We really weren't tested that much," said Stearns, "but we still needed some game action to get us prepared."

South crushes Flyers

By DOUG IRVIN

For the Press-Record

CAHOKIA — The Granite City South Warriors clearly dominated the East St. Louis Senior girls' volleyball team here Tuesday night in the first round of the IHSA District Tournament. The second game was better than the first. In that one, South put its skills together to play like a championship team.

South's scores were 20-8 and 20-1. East St. Louis Lincoln also demolished its foe—Cahokia—20-7 and 20-3. Lincoln allowed ten points scored against them in their two lopsided games; however, South allowed only nine. The Warriors will meet Lincoln in the District final to be played tonight (Thursday) at the Cahokia High School gym at 7:30.

South's squad consists of only one senior and that is Karen Macios. "I'm glad that we won," said the other retelling. That was until East St. Louis scored the magic number of eight.

In the second game, the Flyers could not return any of the first six serves that were sent sailing over the net by power-server Susan Jeffries. With those six points and the one awarded to South (East St. Louis failed to hand in a lineup for the second game), South led 7-0.

East St. Louis' lone point came then, as South hit the ball out of bounds. The score stayed pretty even with one team taking a two or three point advantage and the other retreating. That was until East St. Louis scored the magic number of eight.

"I agree with the national rankings which have us ahead of them."

But the NCAA saw it differently. Supposedly, the NCAA felt that SMU's better won-lost record (15-1-1), the fact that it has beaten top-ranked Indiana University and its tie with SIUE outweighed SIUE's better national ranking. SIUE's losses were to defending National Champion San Francisco and University of Pacific on the first week of the season. Its other tie was with unranked Evansville. The Cougars did not face Indiana this season, even though the Hoosiers played the Cougar Classic Tournament.

Cougars vs. St. Louis, SMU is number one

EDWARDSVILLE — The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville soccer Cougars, despite a fourth-place national ranking, were seeded second in the Midwest Regional here Tuesday by the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA).

The Cougars, 14-2-3, will meet old foe St. Louis University Saturday at 3 p.m. in the first round of the regional. St. Louis U. received an at-large bid.

SIUE defeated St. Louis 2-0 Nov. 2 in the annual "Bronze Boot Game" at Busch Stadium. Southern Methodist University, although not ranked as highly as the Cougars received the first seed and an automatic preliminary round bye in the regional. In the national ranking, SIUE is fourth, SMU is tied with Penn State for eighth and St. Louis U. is 17th.

The winner of Saturday's Cougars-Billikens game will travel to Dallas the following weekend to play SMU's Mustangs. The winner of that game will earn a berth in the four-team national final Dec. 9 in Tampa.

A week ago, SMU tied SIUE 1-1 in the final regular season game of the season in a game that was marred by a knock-down, drag-out fight toward the end.

SIUE veteran coach Bob Guelker did not agree with his team's being seeded behind southern Methodist.

"I don't agree that they (SMU) should be rated number one," he said. "We

Steeler spikers rally

By KEVIN ALLEN

For the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Granite City North girls volleyball coach Sharon Bloodworth didn't like the way the second game of North's Tuesday night match against Jerseyville was shaping up.

North was down in the opening game and was down 7-4 in the second game. So Bloodworth called for a time out.

North went back out on the court. North came back on the court. And scored 11 straight points before Jerseyville could add its eighth.

The Steelerettes went on to win the game, 20-13, and the match with a 20-17 win in the third game.

The victory advances North the final of the North district tournament against Wood River Thursday.

What did Bloodworth tell the Steelerettes that made such a difference?

"They weren't sure in their play," she said. "They kind of backed off. They weren't playing as a group. I just reminded them of that."

Good advice. After the sideline session, North never hesitated. The Steelerettes scored three straight points (5 tie the score at 7-7 before Jerseyville got to serve.

But even serving, Jerseyville failed to score, and North regained the serve. With North's Leslie McIntyre at the line, the Steelerettes spun off eight straight points giving them an insurmountable 15-7 lead.

Jerseyville made an attempt to come back with a four point surge, but North went on to a 20-13 win.

That set the stage for the decisive third game. The flow of the match had switched to North during the second game, and the Steelerettes carried the momentum over into the final.

North broke out to 4-2 lead early, and never again lost it. 4-4, 10-5, 13-7, the Steelerettes seemed to be up to an easy victory.

But then it was Jerseyville's turn to regroup. With the score 14-8, the teams alternated net serves—three times in all.

The Steelerettes' easy victory seemed to be mired. Then concern increased when North's Erin McKeehan was forced to leave the game when she was struck by a teammate's return. Rhonda Broadwater replaced her.

Jerseyville pulled to within four points, but once again North regrouped to surge ahead, 19-12.

"Rhonda fit right in," Bloodworth said. "It was like there was no change."

Janet Dann served five straight points for Jerseyville, as the Panthers applied the pressure making the score 19-17.

But the Steelerettes pulled together one last time. Cathy Waldo served, a lefting shot to the left side of the Panther court. Jerseyville's Terry Wade positioned herself under the ball and sent a shot high up into the lights. The ball actually grazed one of the light fixtures and came spinning down.

It landed harmlessly between two helpless Panthers. North won 20-17.

"The first game of the district in our gym with us as hosts. I think all this kind of got to the girls early," Bloodworth said. "But they settled down and started playing their kind of game. This is the way we played earlier in the season. This is the type of play we're capable of."

GC's Dooley now a Panther

By Brad Patterson
For the Press-Record
CARLESTON — For the second consecutive year, Granite City will be represented in the NCAA Division II soccer playoffs. Granite City North's Marty Dooley figures to be very much involved when Eastern Illinois Panthers make their third consecutive trip to the NCAA Midwest Regional.

Dooley, a 1978 graduate of North, has seen considerable action as a sophomore midfielder for the Panthers, who are currently ranked fourth in the latest NCAA Division II poll. Eastern moved into tournament action Wednesday when it hosted Western Illinois. If the Panthers survived that opening round game, they will travel to St. Louis to take on the Missouri-St. Louis Rivermen (UMSL) Sunday, with the winner advancing to the national finals in Miami, Fla. UMSL is top-seeded in the Midwest region, while Eastern is tabbed second. Although Dooley's personal statistics are not overly impressive this season, he has scored only one goal, against Xavier (Ohio) University, his worth to the team is not overlooked.

"Marty is a good, consistent player," said Eastern head coach Schellas Hyndman. "He rarely makes a mistake, and that is what you look for in a good midfielder."

Dooley himself is not happy with his performance this season.

"I really haven't played that well this year," he said. "I can't pinpoint the exact reason, but I just feel like I played better last year."

Last season Dooley was a part-time performer for the Panthers, who finished third in the nation in the NCAA II finals.

Dooley said that he thought his shot was the weakest part of his overall game.

"I worked all last summer on my shot," he said. "I would just go over to the field and shoot by myself and work on getting that shot down. Evidently it didn't help too much, judging by my scoring production this season."

Hyndman said that Dooley's position has hampered his goal-scoring this season.

"Marty needs some work on his shot, but he really hasn't had that many opportunities to score this season," Hyndman said.

"Playing where he does, he has to be more concerned with defense and ball control."

While in high school, Dooley's feats were not overly known state-wide since he and his teammates played in the shadow of state champion Granite City South. And, as a result, "I doubt if any college coaches ever saw us play," he said.

"If you don't go to state (South defeated Dooley's North team in the sectional finals that season) no one really looks at you that seriously. And the good teams around here, like St. Louis U. and SIUE, all want the St. Louis players instead of players from east side. So, I really didn't get that many offers from schools," Dooley said.

Eastern's Hyndman heard about Dooley however, and sent a letter to North coach Bob Kehoe indicating interest. So Dooley arrived at the EIU campus.

"I really didn't know what to expect," Dooley said about playing at Eastern as a freshman. "But my sister went here, and I knew enough about the school, and I liked it."

Last season's Panther squad produced a 15-5 record, two wins over UMSL, and that third place national finish. This year's edition started slowly, but Dooley feels that "we are peaking right now. I feel real well about going into the tournament. It took us some time to get into a rhythm this season," he said. "We had lost some really fine players (like four-time All-American George Gorkela), and we were playing some inexperienced people. Right now though, I think we can do as well if not better than we did last year."

"We only lose three players next season, and if we get some good replacements, then we'll be real strong," Dooley says.

"Coach Hyndman always gets a few good young players that help the team, plus the fact that Eastern is getting into the national recognition helps us get the best players from the other areas in the state."

If Eastern does continue to enjoy success on the soccer field, and it looks as though they will, Granite City's Marty Dooley should have a strong hand in it.

MARTY DOOLEY, a former Granite North Steeler, is now a player on the soccer squad at Eastern Illinois University as a sophomore. EIU is currently ranked fourth in the nation in NCAA Division II.

North wrestlers will look to lower weights

By DOUG IRVIN
for the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Six lettermen from last year's squad are returning, along with a veteran from two years ago, to Coach Walt Whitaker's Granite City North wrestling team. Practices started at the first of the month and the first meet is at Belleville East, Dec. 4.

Three athletes who qualified for the IHSA State wrestling meet return to give North tough lower weight classes. A junior, Jerry Miller ended his season with a 28-6 record at the 98 pound class and qualified for State. Seniors Bob Kirgan and Kevin Shemwell both qualified to the tournament. Kirgan grappled at 112 and won 37-1 on the year; Shemwell posted a mark of 27-7 at 138.

Also returning to Whitaker's squad are Tracy Patton, senior, 25-6, 119; Brad Taylor, senior, 155; Rich Unger, senior (he wrestled about ten matches for the Steelers); and Tim Wrosteck, a heavyweight from two years ago. His father is North football coach Tom Wrosteck.

"Most of our experienced kids are down in the lower weights," said Whitaker. "We should be tough down there. We may have a good team for tournaments, but I don't know about dual meets."

Juniors and sophomores look as if they might be helping Whitaker with his roster on the varsity lineup. Mike Robinson, son of Steeler cross country coach Pete Robinson, Steve Gibson and Glen Thompson are three juniors who, according to the coach, have a shot on the varsity team.

Whitaker said sophomore Steve Smith could be somewhere down low and sophomore Steve Giese would be in the upper weights. Scott Corey could also be in there.

Giving the 'Steeler wrestling team its first Thanksgiving at home with their families in several years was the cancellation of the Niles East Tournament, near Chicago, which North had participated in the past three years. This will also give Whitaker an extra week or so to condition his young athletes, before their schedule begins.

Whitaker is looking forward to the annual Holiday Tournament hosted by Granite City South after Christmas. This year's tourney is set for Dec. 27-28. "We generally do well in that tournament," said Whitaker. "It's an early tournament and that's what the kids like."

"I think the teams in this area that will be good are going to be South, Belleville West, Cahokia, Roxana and us," said Whitaker. "Last year Roxana didn't do too well and it's time for them to come back. I'm looking for them to be pretty good."

New teams to the Steeler schedule are Mt. Vernon, Althoff and possibly Centralia.

After the Dec. 4 meet with East, North will travel to Edwardsville where they will do battle with the Tigers, Belleville West and Collinsville in a triple dual on Dec. 8.

SIUE grapplers begin their season

EDWARDSVILLE — Four Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville wrestlers participated in the Great Plains Free Style Open, Friday and Saturday in Lincoln, Neb., where freshman Mike Steiner placed fourth. He was the only SIUE wrestler to place. Steiner, of Chicago, took fourth in the 115-pound division by winning four matches and losing two. Of his victories, Steiner scored an impressive 0:35 pin and two other falls. In first round action, the Cougar freshman defeated Bob Tatten of the University of Nebraska at the 4:41 mark. Then, Steiner pinned Glen Henry, also of the University of Nebraska. That was his 35-second pin. Steiner lost to Bill Rosado of the Sunkist Wrestling Club from Phoenix, Ariz., 21-5, and then pinned Jeff Hannan of the Hawkeye Wrestling Club from Iowa City, Iowa, in 2:26.

Tom Dersene from the New York Athletic Club, beat Steiner in the semi-finals, 14-3. Steiner then defeated Dan Quam from the University of Wisconsin, 10-2, for fourth place.

Duane Daniels of SIUE lost two matches in the 126-pound class. He wrestled Mark Manrinjini of the Sunkist Wrestling Club (2:37) and Ken Ballard from Oklahoma State University (2:05).

In the 190-pound class, Cougar freshman Joe Glasder lost two close matches. First, he lost a one-point margin to Joe Eagt from the University of Oklahoma, 6-4.

Brady Hall, from the University of California-Los Angeles, decisively beat Glasder, 6-3.

Heavyweight Tim Prinz, a transfer student at SIUE, lost two and won one. Jeff Bellinick, from the NYAC, pinned Prinz at the 2:15 mark. The SIUE heavyweight beat Mike Clark from the University of Chicago, 7-4. Prinz was pinned by Dave Klemm, a transfer from the University of Eastern Illinois, 11-5.

"They looked real good," said Mike Kristoff, coach of the SIUE Cougars. Kristoff only took four wrestlers to Nebraska; three are freshmen and the fourth is a transfer who had never wrestled for Kristoff before. "It was a real tough tourney," said Kristoff. "At least eight of the 10 Olympians for the Moscow games were there."

Saturday (Nov. 17), the Cougars will compete in the St. Louis Open Tournament, which will start at 11 a.m. at Forest Park Junior College. "We'll have the whole team there," said Kristoff. "There is no team title at the St. Louis Open."

TRUE GRIT. Granite City North wrestler Tracy Patton grimaces at the weight machine yesterday as he works on his strength for the upcoming season. The Steelers will begin their season Dec. 4, at Belleville East.

Cougar 'Whites' down 'Reds'

EDWARDSVILLE — A large and enthusiastic crowd of fans from Effingham and Teutopolis Saturday night watched a bitterly fought intra-squad basketball game played by the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Cougars. The game, won by the varsity Whites, 126-103, was played at Teutopolis High's gym. Coach Jim Dudley divided his squad into White and Red Squads, and the Whites, as mentioned, had the bulk of the varsity starters — at this early date, at least.

Pacing the Whites was 6'-4" Ted Smith, former star at Teutopolis, who poured in 31 points on 11 field goals and 9 of 9 free throws. Next, was the Cougars' star point guard, Greg Payne, who not only orchestrated the varsity's game but connected on 12 two-pointers and 6 of 8 charity tosses for 30 points.

Bill Branz, the varsity's top rebounder with 18, hit for 21 points. Delighting the crowd with a series of reverse slam dunks, was Jerome (Baby Jay) Nelson, who hit for 18 points. The pride of Waterloo, Tom Schmidt, hit for 10 points.

Pacing the Reds was Lawrence (Lowdown) Brown, who'll probably share playing time with Schmidt on the varsity, with 21 points. The focal point of all eyes, though, was 6'-9" Dennie Funneman of Teutopolis.

—Letters— More class than 'windy people'

Dear Sports Editor:

Your recent article concerning the location of the state soccer tournament and the behavior of certain IHSA officials was one of the most articles ever written.

Naturally, when a coach has a dynasty, everyone wants a shot at bursting the bubble but I think people must show a little class about the situation.

Gene Baker's team has dominated the state class four years straight now and they have always conducted themselves as gentlemen.

Not only is it a tribute to go north and beat them there but it's even more degrading to the "windy people" when they show.

Area teams in semis

GRANITE CITY — Three area prep football teams will play in semifinal action Saturday in the 1979 Illinois State High School Playoffs. Belleville Althoff, East St. Louis Senior and Mascoutah are the three remaining area squads in contention for a state championship.

Perhaps the most surprising of the teams is Althoff. Owners of an 8-3 record, the Crusaders were virtually unknown before the Class 4A playoffs began two weeks ago. But in the preliminary round, they defeated Springfield Griffin and last week stunned the number two rated 4A team in the state, Peoria Richwoods.

Things don't get any easier for Althoff, champion of the newly-formed Gateway East Conference. This week, the Crusaders play host to the number one rated team, LaSalle-Peru (11-0).

Althoff will host Peru at Township stadium in Belleville at 1 p.m. Tickets are priced at $2 each.

East St. Louis walloped previously top-ranked (in 5A) Chicago Richards 38-6 last week and has earned the number-one ranking. The Flyers will take on Elgin-Larkin at home Saturday at Parsons Field, also at 1 p.m. Mascoutah, undefeated champion of the Mississippi Valley Conference, will travel to Charleston to take on the playoff-seasoned Trojans. Charleston has been in the Class 3A semifinals the last three years, but has never won the state championship. Mascoutah earned its trip to the semifinals with a 21-0 victory over Metamora, while Charleston was beating previously unbeaten Harrisburg.

Baker

you get this far, you have to be.

The question always comes up. Will Baker come up to coach at South High, or will he move on to the college ranks? With his record, he has to have had offers. "How could I leave guys like David Fernandez, Greg White, David Paz and the rest?" he said with a grin. "I'll be at South next year."

GC's Sheridan endures pain that most others wouldn't

By MIKE SMITH

DeKalb News Service
for the Press-Record

DERALB — Dave

Sheridan has an ability to endure pain most people could not tolerate.

But the 22-year-old Granite

City native and soccer player for Northern Illinois

University continues to perform day in and day out, never giving notice to his discomfort.

"Dave has been with us for five years, and every year

he's played hurt," NIU

soccer coach Dave Bucher

said. "He's at a point now where he's hurting at least once a week."

Sheridan is "hurting" as a result of a mishap that occurred two years ago in Milwaukee, Wis.

"It was in his third game of his sophomore year," recalled Bucher, "when he initially hurt his knee. We were playing the University of Wisconsin, and Dave's foot got "stuck" in the grass.

It was a freak accident."

"I tore some of my ligaments," said Sheridan, explaining the outcome of his casualty.

"I rested the knee, but after two weeks it still didn't respond to treatment.

Therefore, I had to have it operated on."

"I started working a special knee machine," Sheridan said, "referring to the rehabilitation process that followed. "I exercised my knee five days a week

trying to strengthen it."

The damaged knee continues to give Sheridan

periodic trouble.

DAVE SHERIDAN

"The knee has bothered me ever since the operation," the curly-haired Sheridan said. "Already this season it's gone out on me at least 10 times. It really is a strange feeling. It buckles up and I have to come out of the game for 10 or 15 minutes. After that it's okay."

"His intense desire to play the game is what gets me," said Bucher of Sheridan. "He'll come out of a game because his knee has locked up, and he'll want to go back in 5 minutes later."

While Sheridan admits to not being much of a point producer (he has but one assist this season) he was anything but, during his high school days at Granite City South.

"I played varsity soccer my sophomore, junior and senior year," Sheridan said. "My sophomore year was my best of the three. I scored 15 goals in 20 games and our team finished first in the state. My junior year I broke my foot and only played in three or four games. Our squad finished third in the state playoffs my junior year, and when I was a senior we were beaten by Granite City North High School in the playoffs."

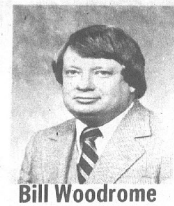

"Dave was the first Granite City player I ever recruited," noted Bucher, who now has three others (Rich Becherer, Gary Phelps and John Krekovich) from Granite City North in the Huskie roster.

"Dave has been a joy to work with ever since he came here. He's a very intense player, and a rather silent leader. He's just a super kid. Dave has a great sense of humor but he's subtle about what he says," Bucher said.

Sheridan, a special education major who will graduate in May of 1980, commented on the NIU soccer team which has made a strong showing of late.

"I have four games left and I'm going all out," said Sheridan, who is sure to do so. "All my life I've never had a losing season. I'll be damned if I'm going to have one now."

No work, no aid plan is studied

Indications that able-bodied recipients of general assistance funds or Illinois Public Aid may be required to work for units of local government to receive their benefits were clear at the recent township officials' convention in Peoria, Nameoki Township Supervisor Harold Davis told the town board of trustees Tuesday night.

"It's going to be one big headache, but it's something people will have to understand. We have no choice. The law will carry penalties and we have to go it, so be ready for it," Davis warned.

He said he expects a "complicated" set of rules, regulations and guidelines to be sent to units of local government in the very near future.

Davis said a new law also will require the county board chairman to appoint a Public Aid Appeals Committee of four township supervisors to review appeals by recipients and applicants.

"We have no idea where the money is going to come from. The law indicates the township will have to pay expenses for the supervisors chosen. I may be considered, because Nameoki Township is the only township that uses state funds for general assistance," Davis added.

Commenting further on the convention earlier this month, Davis said the outlook for continued revenue sharing grants to townships, "Really doesn't look too good."

Federal legislators will meet in late January to discuss the future of revenue sharing and Davis suggested all township officials and interested citizens write to their federal senators and representatives.

"Tell them townships need revenue sharing, we would use it wisely and it would help us continue our programs," the supervisor requested.

The trustees also appealed to all township residents and area businessmen to donate money, food, canned goods or other items for Christmas food baskets the township plans to prepare for needy residents. Solicitations also will take place in schools attended by township residents, including the two schools in State Park Place.

The Granite City Board of Education has been asked to approve a plan in which students would be asked to bring canned goods or donations to their schools.

Davis read a letter from Governor Jim Thompson explaining why Thompson vetoed a bill which would remove some of the restraints town boards have over spending by highway commissioners, including approving the highway budgets.

Thompson contended a change in the current status would force renegotiation of numerous labor contracts and would have other adverse impacts.

The board agreed to accept two part-time students from the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act program (CETA) to work after school in the township.

"I am sure we can find something for them to do to get work experience," Davis said.

Trustee W. Lee Adams reported the Long Lake Fire Protection District has agreed to have another fire hydrant installed in the 2700 block of Angela Drive and work will begin soon.

Highway Commissioner Frank Mehelic said new street signs his department has had ordered for some time have arrived and work replacing stolen and damaged signs has begun.

Davis said several of the township officials at the convention met with a representative of the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs to ask for the department's aid in getting a tornado warning siren for the Arlington Heights Subdivision and Holiday Mobile Home Park "off dead center."

Delays caused by Civil Defense paperwork and other problems have kept the project from becoming a reality, although Community Development funds are available for the siren.

Trustee W. Lee Adams said the DLGA official agreed to help the township in trying to "go to the top of the list" of projects awaiting approval.

The board accepted a recommendation from the township commissioner that a bid of $427 for the sale of two scrap 1963 highway department trucks be accepted from Jim Fleming of Collinsville.

A letter was read from a resident of the 2400 block of Hemlock Avenue asking the highway department to top trees in that block which are dead on top and which pose a danger to nearby houses and persons.

Mehelic said the trees are too tall for his employees to top and his department does not have the money to contract a private firm to top them. He agreed to study the letter to see if something could be done, but indicated it may be necessary to cut the trees down, rather than top them.

He said the township roads are ready for the winter, except those roads torn up by sanitary sewer construction.

Mehelic expressed concern over manholes which are above the level of the streets, saying he is afraid snow plays will hit the manholes, damaging the plows and trucks and endangering the drivers.

"They have 200 manholes in this township that are sticking up to the contractor says it would be costly to blacktop up to them. They said they would try to do something, but I don't think they are going to," Mehelic stated.

Democratic Precinct Committeeman Joe Garcia of the Miracle Manor area said the contractor, S.M. Wilson Co., already has started work repairing the streets in his area.

Bills approved for payment totaled $4,478 from the town fund, $1,963 from general assistance, $886 from the revenue sharing fund, $3,676 from the road and bridge fund, $5,701 in special hard road bills, and $3,727 from municipal retirement.

AN OPEN LETTER TO SMART FOOD SHOPPERS...

THE PLAIN TRUTH ABOUT SHOP 'N SAVE AND EIGHT REASONS WHY YOU CAN SAVE 15% to 20% OF YOUR FOOD DOLLAR

1. WE HAVE WAREHOUSE PRICES ON 9,000 ITEMS. Our entire stock of merchandise is sold at warehouse prices (not just 400 or 500 items as some chain stores have recently shouted). Prove it to yourself. Check our prices and compare them to chain store prices. That's all we ask.
2. WE PAY LOWER RENT. Our stores are not extra fancy - but they are neat, clean, well-lit, and comfortable with wide, wide aisles. Did you know that most of those brand new super-supermarkets pay as much as a half million dollars a year in rent alone?
3. WE STOCK HUNDREDS OF ITEMS AT ONE TIME (not one at a time). Our wide aisles have a purpose. They are designed to allow fork lifts and pallet jacks to move merchandise in their original cartons and open cases direct from storage areas to the shelves in a matter of minutes.
4. WE SUPPLY THE BAGS. YOU PROVIDE THE STUFFING. Not a big thing - but it does save us and you extra money. Besides, now you'll know who to blame for putting your eggs and bananas in the bottom of the bag.
5. WE ADVERTISE LESS. Many chains advertise as much as ten times more than we do. We do not believe in over-kill, but prefer to state our money-saving story and let our customers carry the good word to others about our savings.
6. WE DON'T GIVE TRADING STAMPS. Trading stamps add about 2% to the cost of doing business. For every $100.00 you spend in a store that gives trading stamps you can figure you've paid $2.00 for the stamps. Stamps are not free. They cost.
7. VOLUME BUYING. We pay no more nor no less for products than other chains in the area. We get the same "manufacturers deals" as they do. And we pass all of them on to you. ALL OF THEM. It's very simple and very basic. Our efficiencies of operation allow us to sell for less.
8. WE HAVE FEWER EMPLOYEES. Our people are union. We just have fewer of them than the average supermarket. We use check out scanners to avoid expensive individual pricing of items. We use fork lifts to stock cases. We do not provide bagging or carry out service. So all of these savings are passed on to you.

All we ask is that you check our prices on fresh produce, name brand groceries, dairy products, frozen foods, health and beauty aids, smoked meats - plus wine, liquor and beer.

If you like the few hundred warehouse prices the chains have been shouting about . . . you'll love the 9,000 warehouse prices on name brand products at Shop 'N Save . . . WHY SETTLE FOR LESS . . . Visit Shop 'N Save Warehouse Foods any day of the week and take advantage of the warehouse prices on everything.

QUITTERS. A total of 43 employees of St. Elizabeth Medical Center are expected to be consuming plenty of candy and lollipops today after agreeing not to smoke for Smokers' Thursday, sponsored by the American Cancer Society. It is hoped by the group that some will go on to quit entirely. Around the table clockwise, from front left, are Candy Bain, Marsha Wirtz, Ethel Winston, Barb Fischer of the medical center's public relations department, organizer of the event, and Linda Taylor and Thomas Reis, shown during yesterday afternoon's pre-stop-smoking gathering at which "survival kits" of lollipops, candy, gum, booklets and diaries were distributed.

Charles W. Chapman new Circuit Judge

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record
Charles W. "Bill" Chapman, a local attorney, was notified Wednesday evening at 6:30 p.m. that he has been appointed as circuit judge of the Third Judicial District. The appointment was made by the Supreme Court of Illinois and Judge Chapman was notified by Chief Justice Joseph Goldenhersh, of Springfield. Judge Chapman replaces former Circuit Judge

William Beatty who became a federal judge. Chapman was born in Granite City and reared in Madison. He graduated from Madison High School in 1959. He earned his undergraduate degree from the East St. Louis campus of the Southern Illinois University of Edwardsville. He earned his law degree from St. Louis University. While in law school he worked part time as a research chemist at John Cochran Hospital.

He served as a law clerk for Federal District Judge Homer Poos and in 1968 went into the practice of law with Morris Champan (no relation) a prominent Granite City attorney.

In 1970 he became a full partner and the local firm of Champan and Chapman was organized. Judge Chapman about a year and a half ago, returned to SIUE where he has completed his course work for a masters degree in economics, during which time he remained active with the law firm on a consulting basis. He and his wife Judy (Severine) Chapman, who is a registered nurse and currently attending SIUE, have three children. Judge Chapman belongs to numerous legal associations and is the immediate past president of the Tri-City Bar Association.

3 arrested this morning

Three men were arrested after a series of accidents which police believe were the result of a chase involving three vehicles at 1:35 a.m. today.

Officers were told a fight first developed at Eddie's Lounge on Nameoki Road and three men left in separate vehicles. In front of Kirkpatrick Homes the Volkswagen of David L. Pierson, 37, of 2109 Illinois Ave., and the larger car of Danny E. Caughron, 21, of 2971 Madison Ave., collided, knocking a fender and running board off the Volkswagen.

The vehicles, followed by a pickup truck, continued to 27th and Kate streets, where Caughron's auto allegedly struck the rear of the Volkswagen while trying to prevent it from making a turn, authorities were told.

The three vehicles continued to 27th Street and Washington Avenue where they encountered the stopped auto of John Shennell, 2645 Washington Ave., at the stop sign, police said.

Pierson's auto allegedly struck the rear of the stopped auto, demolishing Pierson's auto, which was unable to drive further.

Witnesses alleged Caughron and Ricky D. Winder, 21, of 2715 Kinston Ave., and the unidentified driver of the pickup truck Winder had been riding in, approached Pierson's car, yelled obscenities at him and attempted to pull him out of the car.

Police arrived and the driver of the pickup truck returned to his vehicle and fled. Caughron was arrested on state charges of disorderly conduct and reckless driving. Winder was charged with disorderly conduct and Pierson was charged with reckless driving, both on state complaints, police reported.

Car and gas tanker collide

Three members of the family of Timothy Daubach, 34, of 3201 Kirkpatrick Homes were injured when their auto and a gasoline tanker collided about 11:15 a.m. Tuesday on Route 111 near Rosewood Heights. Initial indications were their injuries were serious.

Authorities said the tanker, loaded with 6,500 gallons of gasoline, was driven by Jim Allen, 26, Kane, Ill., who escaped injury. The truck apparently was unable to stop when the car stopped in the north-bound lane of Route 111 to turn into a medical clinic, authorities said.

The truck struck the rear of the car, pushing the rear seat to the front and toppling 10-year-old Brad Rose, son of the Daubach couple, in the car. The tanker then overturned twice, crushing the truck cab.

Firemen from Rosewood Heights, East Alton, Wood River and Rebalto Heights and the township fire department arrived at the scene. The father and son and the mother, Doris Daubach, 47, were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital. Admitted were the father and son and the mother, Doris Daubach, 47.

Authorities said the father had a severe cut to his head. The boy also had head injuries and complained of pain all over his body. The mother said she had pain to her back.

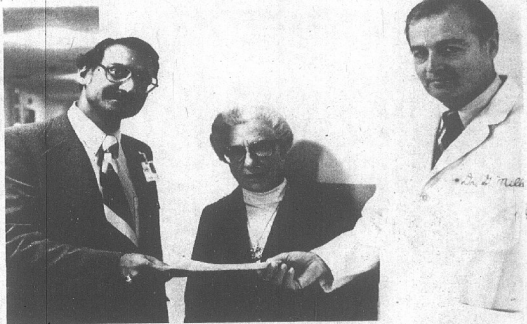

Firemen remained on the scene to wash down gasoline leaking from the truck until it could be pumped dry. Residents of a few homes nearby were warned of a possible explosion, but none occurred.

Venice man stabbed

Van C. Kalogeros, 59, of 217 Kerr St., Venice, was reported in satisfactory condition today in St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he is suffering from multiple stab wounds. He was stabbed above the right eyebrow and twice in the right shoulder.

Collinsville police are holding Gregory L. Reed, 25, who gave police a Webster street address in Madison and a St. Louis address, in lieu of $50,000 bond.

He has been named in a felony warrant charging him with aggravated battery. Collinsville police could offer no explanation of the motive behind the stabbing. Reed denied the charge and claims he was only a witness.

Bomb threat suspect takes voice test

A 29-year-old East St. Louis man, who was awaiting a court appearance Wednesday in the county courthouse at Edwardsville on a shoplifting charge was forced by court order to submit to a voice test after a telephoned bomb threat which forced evacuation of the courthouse for about two hours, ending at 12:30 p.m. yesterday.

Associate Judge Philip Rarick threatened to hold the man in contempt of court if he did not submit to a tape recording of his voice for the FBI to compare to a recording of the voice which threatened the bomb threat.

He was questioned after authorities said they saw him leave the court lobby yesterday before the bomb threat was announced and seemed particularly pleased when the courthouse was evacuated.

Authorities said the man refused to utter a word for about three and one-half hours after a tape recorder was brought into the room. Rarick then issued the order that he speak or be held in contempt of court and he complied.

No charges have been filed, pending the comparison of the tape recordings by the FBI laboratory in Washington.

Public salutes Rep. Steele

By BILL WINTER

Without in effect wrapping himself in the flag, a practice he and many other officials would oppose, State Representative Everett G. Steele nevertheless is stressing patriotism and love of country as he performs his duties and addresses citizens.

Most of the people like what they hear, and he was given a standing ovation at a "salute to Steele" gathering Nov. 6, attended by more than 400 persons at the STUE University Center. Next November, he is expected to seek re-election as the Republican member of the Illinois House from the 56th Legislative District.

Middle right—Mrs. Schlafly speaks at the rally. Listed in polls as one of the most influential women in the nation, she is a leader in the opposition to Equal Rights Amendment ratification, asserting that it would reduce rather than expand women's opportunities.

Other speakers included State Sen. Dwight Friedrich, Dignitaries introduced included Madison County Sheriff Emil Toffant and County Board Member Daniel Partney.

Dr. Merrill Ottwein, a former state senator, and his sister, Mrs. Audrey Deeren, sang and led group singing, and Phil Spence played organ selections. Gymnasts entertaining included Judy K. Johnson, who hopes to enter the 1980

"America the Beautiful" was among the musical numbers played. And all who spoke made it clear they think it would be a more beautiful America if all government officials had the qualities of the three-term Illinois legislator they were honoring.

They gave him high marks for doing his "homework"—responding to local and statewide problems and issues, and working effectively with the legislative and executive branches to find answers.

When Rep. Steele speaks in the General Assembly, others stop what they are doing and listen because they know he has researched the topic and has given it ample thought, the gathering was told by Rep. Stiehl (no relation).

And he serves his constituents well, the speakers concluded. I'd agree, because he introduced me to the girl that I married in the mid-1950s. And my new brother-in-law a short time later in that decade introduced to each other the two who received the heartiest applause at the Meridian Ballroom rally, Everett and Joey Steele.

Club to collect food for baskets

Anchorage Senior Citizens met last week for its birthday and business meeting with 50 members and two guests, Louise Brinkoff and Harriet Bunselmeyer, present.

Georgia Butler presided at the meeting. The secretary report was read by Margaret Rutter and the treasury report was given by Catherine Moser.

The sunshine lady, Mary Ahlvers, reported on the sick and cards sent.

It was announced that a box will be placed in The Anchorage hall for canned goods and other foods to be collected for Salvation Army Christmas baskets.

The Salvation Army is giving a Thanksgiving dinner today. A bus left Anchorage at 10:40 a.m. The Eagles will also have a dinner on Thanksgiving Day at noon. Those interested may call Ruby Corbitt at the Anchorage Center for reservations.

Election of officers will be held in December. Members of the nominating committee are Katherine Colligan, Evelyn Morgan and Eva Hansen.

The next meeting of the group will be Dec. 5.

Lights drive aided by Progressive Women

The Madison Progressive Women's Club held its monthly meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. Mahala W. Griggs, 1032 Douglas St., Venice. After the devotion by the chaplain, Mrs. Frankie Griggs, the president gave the annual report.

She attended six East St. Louis-Alton Area Council meetings, a Southern District Club Women and Girls Clubs meeting at Collinsville, and the Illinois Association of Club Women and Girls in Chicago.

The club gave two scholarships to students attending business college in St. Louis, Miss Debbie Scheff and Miss Marsha Haynes. Other contributions were made to civic programs, including the Tree of Lights. The annual club picnic in Lee Park and a togetherness worship service at Southern Baptist Church ended the 1978-79 year.

Mrs. Christine Haynes presented the 1979-80 budget and Mrs. Altherine Sands reported on a fund-raising project.

Mrs. Rose Parnell discussed final plans for the Christmas party, and Mrs. Hilda James and Eunice Griggs reported on cards and flowers sent to sick and shut-in members. Others present were Margaret Green, Eliza Ward, Jeffie Paige and Helen King.

Mrs. Eunice Griggs, 113 Weaver St., will be the next hostess.

Lights for softball field

The award of a $38,000 contract to the Plant Operations Department of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for installation of lighting at the SIUE softball field has been announced by the Executive Committee of the SIUE Board of Trustees.

The board at its September meeting authorized the executive committee to approve plans and specifications for the project and to award contracts in order to expedite the installation prior to winter weather.

The softball field is located west of Bluff Road, north of the track and west of the athletic department's locker facilities.

Electrical service will be provided through extensions from the soccer field, where lighting also was installed recently.

According to the contract for the work, the services of an outside vendor will be retained to set the light standards required, at an estimated cost of $2,000.

Night softball games have been scheduled as part of the regular 1979-80 season for the SIUE women's softball team. The night games are expected to increase attendance and generate additional revenues for the intercollegiate athletics program.

ADDRESS IN ERROR

Gary T. Urioste, 22, who was arrested recently after a tavern disturbance, does not live at 5242 Lakeview Drive, Pontoon Beach, residents at that address said Monday. Although there is a Urioste family residing there, they are not related to Gary Urioste, they added.

1 Corinthians 3:9... "For we are laborers with God."

God is not willing that any man should perish. He so loved the world that he gave his Son to die for us. If we believe that Jesus died for us and we confess it to others, then we can be saved. It is God's business to save souls and our business to tell others that he has.

We become laborers together with Him. Keep in mind that we save no one. Pastor, teachers, Christian workers, Churches save no one. It is God's spirit that draws men, convicts men, converts men. We simply carry the message of God's love! If we are faithful to do our work, we shall be rewarded for that work, and not for the results. Remember that salvation is of the Lord.

Work with Him. Today.

Mishap results in two charges

Investigating a minor auto accident at 18th Street and Decatur Avenue last week, officers found one of the drivers in the street who allegedly displayed a belligerent attitude and initially refused to show his driver's license. Wayne C. Painter, 54, of 214 Benton St., was taken into custody when he allegedly began screaming at officers, saying only minor damage had been incurred in the "traffic mishap." The second driver involved was Billy E. Tucker, 3809 Kirkpatrick Homes, who said he was traveling east on 18th Street when a car pulled from the curb in front of him. Painter was charged with reckless driving and driving under the influence of alcohol. He was released later on payment of a $100 cash bond to appear Dec. 14.

Supervisor asks friends not to sign petitions

By GARY SCHNEIDER of the Press-Record

Namook Township Supervisor Harold Davis has sent letters to numerous township residents, asking them not to sign future petitions aimed at controlling the town board.

His letter is believed to be in response to recent petition drives by Mrs. Helen Hawkins, one asking the board to appoint her to a vacant trustee spot, and the other to limit the number of officials sent to the annual township convention. The town board voted against the requests of both petitions.

Davis' letter, which he said was prepared and sent at his own expense, says, "I would feel it a personal favor if, from now on before you sign this type of petition, you would call me or some of the township officials to at least get another opinion or viewpoint of the problem."

"I would not make any request if it were not for the fact that Helen uses petitions as an excuse to get out and talk to the people, thereby keeping her name and face in front of the people until another election comes up," it continues.

Davis contended in the letter that it was beneficial for as many township officials as possible to attend the recent township convention in Peoria, because each official attended different sessions and workshops and then shared the information they obtained.

All of those attending lobbied for legislation which would be helpful to townships, he said.

He denied that township employees had been requested to attend the town board meeting where the convention expenses were approved, to show support for the board's position. "This is an out and out falsehood," the letter stated. "It is our policy that we do not and will not involve the employees in township politics. If they do so, it is strictly because they want to," the letter continued.

"I am very sorry that I have not had the time to get out and explain a few of these things to you, but I simply do not have the time to go out door-to-door, as Helen does, nor have I ever wished to impose these political controversies on you."

"I am very much in favor of petitions being used for worthwhile causes, but I hate to see them used to cover-up someone's political ambitions. Please, if you have any questions or comments on this or anything else, call me at home (931-6219), or at the township office (931-1230) and I would welcome the chance to talk to you. I think you deserve to know both sides of a story," Davis said in the letter.

He also invited township residents to attend the regular board meetings the second and fourth Mondays of every month at the township hall, 4250 Highway 162, beginning at 7 p.m.

"I am sorry that it was necessary (to write), but (with Janet and I) felt that I had to finally speak out and let at least some of our neighbors and friends know what is going on," Davis stated in the letter.

Mrs. Hawkins told the Press-Record that she was surprised Davis would find it necessary to send letters to explain why the town board ignored two petition drives. Petitions are the "in" thing to get people's names on the ballot at election time. It is a shame we don't count now," she responded.

Roach, 27, of the 2000 block of Russell Street, has been sentenced to serve one year of probation and to make restitution totaling $1,990 after pleading guilty to a felony count of theft in a case prepared by the Illinois Bureau of Investigation. Inflation boosts gym cost to $10 million

An increase in the amount of state-appropriated funds sought for construction of the proposed multi-purpose building at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville was one of several changes in the SIU system capital budget request, approved by the SIU Board of Trustees here last week.

The original request of $9,644,000 has been increased to $10,030,000 for the health education, physical education and recreation building, which heads the SIU System's capital budget priority listing for fiscal year 1980-81. University officers said the $386,000 increase reflects inflation and was made at the suggestion of the Capital Development Board.

Another change at SIUE was a reduction of funds requested to resurface roads because of changes in estimates of cost to accomplish the project. The original request of $255,700 was cut to $293,000.

Changes in the SIU at Carbondale budget request include adjustments for food production projects. The new total is $3,839,900, compared with $3,198,300 originally.

The revised priority listing has 11 SIUE projects for which $14,010,000 will be sought and 12 SIUC projects for a total of $12,398,900. The system total is $26,408,900. The priority listing has been submitted to the Illinois Board of Higher Education as part of the Resource Allocation and Management Program, the first in a series of steps required in development of actual operating and capital fund requests for the year beginning July 1, 1980.

Hire girls' basketball coach for MHS

At a special meeting Monday evening of the Madison Board of Education, Mrs. Luvonia Long was hired as assistant basketball coach for girls at Madison High School.

Mrs. Long is a physical education teacher at MHS and coaches girls track and tennis.

The board in student hearings allowed one MHS student to return to MHS on probation and another student was allowed to be withdrawn from MHS by his parents.

Around-the-clock courses aid supervisors at ASF, Laclede

A full time job with changing shifts usually preventing any worker from going back to school at night, but it is one of the requirements for students in a unique new class for supervisors at Laclede Steel Co.

Homer Davitz, administrator of training at Laclede in Alton, helped organize the program a year ago and helped present certificates to its first graduates Monday.

A graduation luncheon was held at the Lewis & Clark Restaurant for nine first-line supervisors as part of the continuing Supervisory Management Program at the Center for Management Studies at SIUE.

To graduate, each supervisor had to complete eight of the six-week classes offered in motivation, coping with special employee problems, report writing or other skills.

The program differs from usual college classes because each one is taught in the morning and repeated in the evening by the same teacher. That way, shift workers can switch back and forth between the classes without missing any instruction.

James F. Miller, SIUE assistant professor of business and Center director, said the certificate program was developed after area businesses and industries, including Laclede, saw a need and asked for it. Similar programs have worked well for other areas and have been "highly successful" in the past, Miller said.

The Management Studies Center offers the same program at the SIUE campus, at Scott Air Force Base near Belleville and at the American Steel Foundries in Granite City, all cooperating hosts. A new series of classes will begin at each site in January.

Lesson on 'Deborah'

Truth Circle of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. Gladys Wallace, Mrs. Shirley Lane opened the meeting as leader of the circle.

A letter from Mrs. Lucy Weaver thanked the circle members and other members of the Women's Society for their cards. She is recuperating from an illness in Flat River, Mo.

A report from the executive committee was given, and members were given the opportunity of volunteering for services for the bazaar. They were urged to sign a prayer vigil for a financial crusade.

Sharon Ellebracht presented a devotion on "The Least Coin" for November, relating the thought that an increase in love for a neighbor will increase love for God.

The lesson for the evening was presented by Mrs. Lane from the book, "The Ongoing Journey: Women in the Bible" by Sharon Eller. The subject was Deborah, whose story goes back to the 12th Century B.C. She was a prophet and a judge in Israel, and the theme was that all must communicate God's message for the present in order that people might respond for today.

"Deborah was an example of a woman who knew what needed to be done, and was willing to lead her people into action rather than just passively bemoaning their fate. She was a woman with admirable qualities much needed today," Mrs. Lane concluded.

Mrs. Wallace served refreshments. Others present were Mesdames Ruth Purkey, Pauline Cox, Wanda Groothuis, Evelyn Hamrick, Grace Paddock and Betty Williams.

The December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lane.

Jewish Federation honors Mrs. Epstein

Mrs. Harry (Fanny) Epstein, 2862 Iowa St., was honored during the weekend at the annual dinner of the Jewish Federation of Southern Illinois.

Mrs. Epstein was presented a Scroll of Honor for her "dedicated volunteer service of 36 years to the federation."

The ceremony took place at the Breckenridge-Fontenac Hotel, St. Louis, with Mrs. Frank Altman, president, making the presentation.

Mrs. Epstein, who will celebrate her 81st birthday in December, has lived in Granite City for the last 58 years.

She has been an active member of the federation since its inception 36 years ago and has served as a volunteer reporter for the organization's Jewish Community News of Southern Illinois for the same period of time.

The federation serves the Jewish community of Southeast Missouri and Northwest Kentucky.

A turkey dinner with all the trimmings was served Tuesday to 77 members of the Golden Age Senior Club at Kirkpatrick Homes Recreation Center.

Covered food dish items were contributed by members and the turkeys were donated by the Kirkpatrick Homes employees. The tables were decorated in a Thanksgiving theme by Effie Johnson and Evelyn Davis.

The Rev. Louis Frick, pastor of Niedringhaus

United Methodist Church, a guest, offered the invocation.

Other guests were Myra Grote, Gertrude Bundy, Mina Duggins, Elsie Cowley and Ruth Messey. Assisting in the kitchen were Caroline Lutz, Ruth Corbit, Edith Young, Alva Stearns, Ola Nix, Loretta Wyskocil, Clyde Myers, Carrie Hart, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Davis.

All members were urged to attend the business meeting at 1:30 p.m. Nov. 27, when officers will be nominated and an election will take place.

After the noon dinner hour, the remainder of the time was spent playing games. Winning prizes were Mrs. Hart, Opal Voss, Bertha Bucherer, Nick Neulizer, Pauline Cox and Art Rankin.

4th graders at concert

Fourth grade students at Venice Grade School, Madison, attended a St. Louis Symphony concert at Powell Hall.

They were accompanied by their teachers, Mrs. Helen Purkay and Mrs. Edna June McClain (Venice) and Mrs. Betty McClanahan (St. Mary's).

Tickets were provided by the Venice Grade School Arts Committee, led by Mrs. Margaret Lee, through a grant from the Illinois Arts Council.

The program consisted of "Celebration" performed by pianist Hayuru Toima, "Festive Overture" by Shostakovich, "Gulliver's Cakes" by Debussy, "Concerts in F" (last movement) by Gershwin, and "1812 Overture" by Tchaikovsky.

Prior to the concert, the students heard a lecture demonstration on the program by Mrs. Laura Sturges and Jeff Schmidt, music students at SIUE. They were accompanied by a graduate assistant, Marilyn McGee.

The attendance of the students at the concert was a part of a program coordinated by Mrs. Margaret Connole.

She spoke on various P.E.O. projects, concluding with her message to the chapter to "live responsibly and make every day a special day."

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Arthur Menendez and Mrs. Alfred Stoeber in completing arrangements for the session marking the 27th birthday of the chapter. President Mrs. Irvin Slaton presided over the business discussions and welcomed 18 members attending.

Begonias in pink and white gingham potholders served as centerpieces on the dining tables.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM WEIDNER. They exchanged wedding vows at the First United Presbyterian Church in Madison. Formerly Jeanne Bosworth Toenyas, the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Courtland Bosworth of Madison.

Jeanne Toenyas wed to William Weidner

The First United Presbyterian Church in Madison was the scene of the wedding of Mrs. Jeanne Bosworth Toenyas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Courtland Bosworth, Madison, and William W. Weidner, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Weidner, Madison.

Officiating at the double ring-ceremony on Sept. 29 was the Rev. Charlotte Zacher, minister of white mums and greenery and burning tapers in branched candelabra decorated the sanctuary.

Organist Mrs. Robbie Robbins accompanied vocalist Frank Eaves as he sang "Time In A Bottle" and "You Light Up My Life."

The former Mrs. Toenyas selected a formal length white organza gown fashioned with an oval neckline edged with a double ruffle of eyellet organza which extended over the shoulders to create short sleeves. A decorative floral lace trim enhanced the fitted bodice and a white satin ribbon sash defined the natural waistline.

Her semi-full skirt was encircled with a deep gathered flounce of eyellet organza which extended to form a chapel train.

She wore a wide brim picture hat accented with a cluster of silk roses and an organza bow with long streamers in the back. She held an elongated bouquet of silk blue and white roses festooned with matching satin streamers.

Matron of honor Mrs. Curt Bosworth, a sister-in-law of the bride, chose a long mint green dress designed with a sheer floral fabric over taffeta. The blouson bodice featured a high neckline and short sleeves and softly flowing skirt.

She wore a matching picture hat and held an arm bouquet of silk daisies. Bridesmaid Mrs. Fred Koller, a sister of the groom, was attired in peach color formal gown. She also wore a matching color hat and her floral arrangement was peach roses.

The junior bridesmaid was DeAnn Toenyas, the bride's daughter. She was dressed in a pastel blue frock made with short cap sleeves and a round neckline, edged with white lace.

She wore a white hat and carried a nosegay of blue and white blossoms.

Elizabeth Owca, a niece of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a long yellow dress created with double tier sleeves and a round neckline enhanced with white lace trim.

Her nosegay bouquet was an arrangement of peach roses edged with a yellow hue.

Frank Baczewski attended the groom as best man. Curt Bosworth was groomsmen and Shawn Koller, a nephew of the groom, served as junior groomsmen.

Seating the guests were Robert Hollenbeck and Fred Koller.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Bosworth chose a floor length turquoise gown with a fitted bodice, round neckline, long sleeves, and full pleated skirt complemented with a sleeveless lace jacket. She wore a white rose corsage.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Weidner, appeared in a full length dress created in mint green with a matching jacket with long sleeves, trimmed with lace. She wore a wrist corsage of white roses.

A reception was held in the Polish Hall after the service. Members of the wedding party attended a rehearsal dinner at Polish Hall on the evening preceding the wedding.

The newly married Mr. and Mrs. Weidner are now residing in Madison following a wedding trip to Hot Springs, Ark.

Both graduated from Madison High School. The groom is attending Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and is an advisor for Explorer Post 14. He also works for the City of Madison.

Some curbs on SIU board closed sessions

A formal policy and procedural guidelines for utilization of executive sessions by the Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees have been approved by the board.

The policy and guidelines were developed by Chancellor Kenneth A. Shaw at the direction of Board Chairman Harris Rowe following a discussion of executive sessions at the September meeting of the trustees.

The chancellor's proposals were submitted for consideration in October but were held for action until last week in accord with board policy.

Chairman Rowe had noted that the board has experienced criticism about the conduct of executive sessions. He emphasized his contention that the board has no sense of having violated the law.

He said he recognized there is disagreement about the matter, and therefore asked Chancellor Shaw to develop recommendations.

The new policy stipulates that executive sessions will not be routinely scheduled. It also states that, ordinarily, executive sessions will not be held immediately before a regular meeting. But the policy notes:

"It is understood that there will be circumstances which can require an exception to be made, including, but not limited to, executive sessions for discussion of matters upon which public action will be required in the ensuing regular meeting, and executive sessions which cannot reasonably be scheduled for any other time because of the unavailability of invited participants."

The policy provides that a desire to discuss a matter in executive session will be communicated by a board member to the chairman or by an executive officer to the chancellor, along with an estimate of the time needed.

For discussion and the topic or topics to be discussed.

The chancellor and board chairman will determine, after consultation with board counsel, whether the requested topic is appropriate for an executive session.

If approved for consideration, the topic will be presented in executive session.

If any member of the board feels the discussion in an executive session has strayed from permissible topics, the member may raise a point of order with the presiding officer, who may consult counsel before deciding the question of order.

A similar point of order may be suggested by an employee or any other person in attendance, in which case any member of the board may then move the point of order or the presiding officer may choose to act upon it on his own motion.

If the chairman submits the question to the members present, the ruling will be final. But an order of the chairman may be appealed under the usual parliamentary rules.

The policy also provides that the chairman will report — at the next open meeting — the exceptions to the law under which the executive session was held.

Rowe said he believes "a conscientious and forthright approach to the matter by the board, involving open discussion of executive session policies and procedures, should be conducive to improving the perception of the press and the public of the board's commitment to conducting its business legally and properly."

Typed phone talk for deaf in state

Illinois Bell is now leasing a new portable teleprinter to deaf and speech-impaired customers. It was announced this week by M. J. Eichelberger, the company's manager-services for disabled.

The unit, called Porta-Printer II, has a typewriter keyboard and a roll of paper. Users dial the number wanted on their telephone and carry on a conversation using the typewriter keyboard.

The unit, which is compatible with other teleprinters used by the disabled, is capable of sending and receiving messages at speeds of up to 60 words per minute over regular telephone lines.

There is a fee of $14 per month for certified deaf or speech-impaired persons, or at higher rates for customers who are not disabled. Certification would be by a registered physician or a recognized agency.

The seven-pound unit — equipped with an acoustic coupler comes with a carrying case and battery supply. There is no installation charge.

This is a real breakthrough in communications for the deaf and is in line with the Bell System's commitment to the continuing development and availability of service for the disabled that is equivalent to basic service," Eichelberger said.

Holiday concerts

Mishap leaves passenger hurt

Linda Howard, 23, of 1745 Maple St., a passenger in an auto operated by Danny A. Randall, 3222 Kilarney Drive, sustained injuries at 8:15 a.m. Sunday, when their vehicle allegedly struck a parked truck in the 1000 block of Niedringhaus Avenue.

The half-ton truck, owned by David W. Gold, Alton, was parked facing east and Randall was driving in the same easterly direction.

Miss Howard was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center for contusions to the forehead and pain in the neck area and head. She was released.

Randall was charged with reckless driving and driving while his license is suspended. He was released at 4:30 a.m. Sunday on payment of a $100 cash bond.

Arrest man on complaint

Receiving a report that a man carrying part of a picket fence was threatening people and acting in an erratic manner while walking in the 1400 block of Edwardsville Road, officers stopped the man at 20th Street, near Sherman Avenue, last week.

Fred Henry Werner, 23, of Division Street, Pontoon Beach, was arrested on a state charge of disorderly conduct on a complaint signed by a former girlfriend who alleged Werner had made several threats toward her and a son during the previous two weeks.

Werner had returned to her home again shortly before his arrest, she reported.

Festive music, Christmas cheer and special discounts are all in store this yuletide season as Schnucks Markets team up with the St. Louis Symphony for ten special holiday concerts in Powell Symphony Hall, Grand at Delmar, St. Louis.

Alleges music loud, vibrates

Robert E. Calhoun, 32, of Cahokia, manager of the OK Central Lounge, 3014 Narmee Road, was charged with disorderly conduct during the weekend on a complaint alleging that music and vibrations coming from the lounge were disturbing occupants of a nearby residence.

A complaint was signed by Phyllis Allen, 1516 Clark Ave., and Calhoun was taken into custody. He was released a short time later on payment of a $100 cash bond.

It was the second complaint of its kind to be filed during the weekend against a manager of the lounge.

Some Corps realignments but St. Louis District unchanged

The chief of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers announced Wednesday that none of the engineer districts recently studied will be closed.

Lt. Gen. John W. Morris, chief of Engineers, in making the announcement said, "The detailed district realignment studies completed in June of this year, as well as related public comments, show that the Corps' present field organization is basically sound."

The manning levels are low, and yet all the districts are capable of providing responsive, quality service when working in coordination with sister Corps organizations.

The studies revealed relatively few economies could be gained, at present, through major realignment actions without considerable disruption to missions.

Among the Corps organizations considered for possible closure or realignment were engineer district offices at Buffalo, N.Y.; Charleston, S.C.; Chicago; Philadelphia; Rock Island, Ill.; San Francisco; St. Paul, Minn.; and Wilmington, N.C.

The status of the New England Division as a division was also reviewed and reconfirmed.

St. Louis District, Mo., will also remain a subordinate element of the Lower Mississippi Valley Division (Vicksburg) for the near future. San Francisco District will remain essentially unchanged, with retention of future construction capability dependent on a viable future construction workload.

There had been fears that a change in the St. Louis status would have delayed the Alton lock and dam replacement.

While no major realignments or closures are planned, there will be some boundary adjustments and functional transfers implemented over the next 12 months. Those changes will include:

Adjustment of Chicago District's areas of responsibility; the Detroit District will assume responsibility for Corps programs and projects in those parts of Wisconsin and most of Indiana currently assigned to the Chicago District; Rock Island District will assume responsibility for Chicago District's part of the Illinois Waterway; Chicago District will continue to support the Chicago area and the northeastern six counties of Illinois, plus Lake and Porter counties in Indiana.

Transfer of the lake-oriented work of the St. Paul District, including the Lake Superior Area Office in Duluth, Minn., to the Detroit District.

Adjustment of the boundary between Charleston and Wilmington districts to follow the North Carolina and South Carolina state line, and adjustment of the boundary for regulatory activities between Charleston and Savannah districts to follow the Georgia and South Carolina state line. This realignment negates the need for any further study of the Charleston District for the foreseeable future.

Transfer of Philadelphia District's construction and related design functions to Baltimore District for new projects authorized in the future.

These realignment actions seek to improve the utilization of Corps personnel and to help assure that an adequate depth of professional engineering talent is maintained to support the areas involved.

Implementation of the realignments will be phased to allow studies and new construction projects in progress to be completed by the originating district. This will help assure a smooth transition of workload between the districts, Gen. Morris said. Adjustments in staffing will be accomplished through attrition to the extent possible. Few, if any, Corps employees are expected to lose their positions due to the realignment actions.

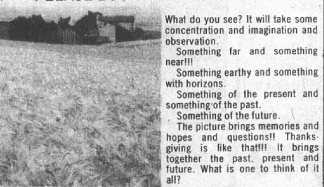

Smash windows at GC firms

Three business firms in downtown Granite City had large plate glass windows smashed by a vandal in a period of a few minutes early Sunday morning.

At 1:54 a.m. Sunday, the vandal hurled a piece of concrete through the front window at Branding's Service Station, 1328 Niedringhaus Ave., smashing a six-by-eight-foot window.

Police are investigating the vandalism. At 1:58 a.m., a brick was thrown through a front four-by-six-foot window at Walker's Jewelry, 1237 Nineteenth St., and three minutes later a large rock was hurled at Tratter's Men's Store, 1328 Niedringhaus Ave., smashing a six-by-eight-foot window.

PLEASE LOOK AT THIS PICTURE

What do you see? It will take some concentration and imagination and observation. Something far and something near. Something earthly and something with horizons. Something of the present and something of the past. The picture brings memories and hopes and questions! Thanking is like that! It brings together the past, present and future. What is one to think of it all?

The Thanksgiving Holy Communion Service will be concerned with the phrase — "YOU ARE NOT FAR."

Note the Service — Thanksgiving Holy Communion — will be at 10:00 A.M. The one service — on Nov. 18 only — there will be no Church School. The Church School teachers and pupils will attend the one Worship Service.

HUD authority is in question

By MICK STRANGE of the Press-Record

A letter from HUD (Housing and Urban Development Agency) in reference to alleged housing discrimination was referred to the Madison city legal department at the city council meeting Tuesday evening.

A complaint by Debora L. Buckingham was filed with HUD. The complaint charged the city delayed granting a housing permit to her.

City Attorney Casper S. Nighossian is sending a detailed letter to HUD and considers the complaint now most because Mrs. Buckingham is now living in the house in question at 1785 Collinsville Ave., Madison, on a temporary permit.

Under city housing code certain housing standards must be met before a housing occupancy permit can be issued.

HUD has requested a meeting with city officials, who in turn have authorized Nighossian to speak for them.

Nighossian has asked HUD basically two questions in a letter: first for HUD to explain by what authority it is entering the matter and secondly why HUD officials want the meeting, if they are acting as an advocate for

Mrs. Buckingham or as a mediator in a dispute.

Nighossian maintained he is prepared to go to court over HUD's alleged authority in the matter.

City Building Inspector John Duko reported to the council that since his last report he had refused to issue several occupancy permits because the houses did not meet the minimum standards of the housing ordinance.

The council approved a "hold harmless clause" so that Illinois Power would not be held responsible for any accident as a result of the new Christmas decorations which will be put up in the Madison shopping area. Alderman Thomas Gordon reported that the finance committee had reviewed the city expenditures for the first half of the year. He said, "With a little luck, we should make it through the rest of the year, but that any spending would have to be kept to bare essentials."

Bo Beckman Ford, of Collinsville, was the only bidder for a new police car. The bid was for $5,757 with trade and delivery would be made in January. The bid was referred to the council finance committee for a recommendation at the next meeting.

Alderman Christ Costoff questioned transmission work done on present police cars. He said he was told they had Pinto transmissions put in the LTDs.

Madison Mayor Mike Saayk said he would have the matter checked and reported on at the next council meeting.

Burglar steals color television

A burglar kicked open the front door at the home of Jeff Wallace, 2234 (rear) National Road, and ransacked the house, he reported at 3:50 p.m. Friday.

Stolen was a 19-inch color television set, valued at $600. Other items may have been taken and an inventory was to be compiled.

Convict camps will ease overcrowding at prisons

Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

The fall veto session of the Illinois legislature ended with a whimper Friday, as funds were appropriated to build seven prison work camps, including one at the state fairgrounds, and to bail out Cook County Hospital.

Both funding moves were among amendments added to two separate appropriations bills. Passage of both bills was blocked Thursday when the House and Senate couldn't agree on the form the amendments should take.

The legislature spent most of Friday waiting for Gov. James Thompson and House and Senate Republican leaders to agree on a program that was acceptable to three-fifths of the lawmakers.

The money for prison work camps, $8.4 million, was tied to a measure that originally sought $351,000 to pay for a program for deaf children with multiple handicaps.

Rep. Eugene Chapman, who Thursday refused to concur with the prison appropriations added in the Senate, agreed to call her bill Friday afternoon. She said she had the chance to confer with others about the work camp program and decided it was a "reasonable" one.

60-DAY JAIL TERM

Associate Judge John W. Day has sentenced Jeffrey Dean Trebing, 17, of Sken Street, Madison, to serve two years of probation and 60 days in the Madison County Jail after Trebing pleaded guilty to attempted burglary from a Sept. 2 incident. He also was fined $150. A burglary charge from the same date was dismissed.

The House voted 111-7 for the bill after she agreed to seek concurrence in the Senate amendments.

Five of the seven work camps will be located on grounds already owned by the Department of Corrections. Only the Springfield fairgrounds camp and one in Lake County will be separate from established prisons.

Staff members indicated the governor supports the $8.4 million prison appropriation requested by Corrections Director Gayle Franzen.

Franzen said the work camp program will help relieve overcrowding in the prison system by creating more beds, will open up new jobs for inmates, and will ease discipline problems in the regular prisons.

"Most inmates want to do this type of work, and will behave to get in the program," Franzen said. The plan would put 54 prisoners in a minimum security facility, the refurbished 4-H building at the fairgrounds.

However, prisoners will not be at the camp in late July and August, immediately before and during the Illinois State Fair.

Some senators sought to amend the fairgrounds site out of the prison package, saying "prisoners and children don't mix." But that change was defeated on the Senate floor.

Prisoners assigned to the work camps will be those who were not convicted of violent crimes and who have good records in regular prisons.

The vote on the prison camps came just before adjournment, after the House and Senate agonized for four hours over the bill containing aid for Cook County Hospital.

House Republican leader George Ryan of Kankakee added three amendments to a Senate bill containing the hospital aid to boost appropriations for three mental health facilities by about $1.7 million.

Sensors considered the move an effort by Ryan to increase his control over patronage jobs because one of the facilities, Manteno, is in Ryan's district and the additional funds would create about 300 new jobs.

But Ryan and others argued the money is needed to raise staffing levels at the facilities so they are in compliance with federal guidelines and qualify for federal funds.

The Senate's refusal to concur with Ryan's amendments Thursday forced the legislature to return Friday. Thompson conferred with Republican leaders Friday, and said he would use his veto powers to reduce, but not eliminate, appropriations for the facilities if the Senate concurred with the amendments.

That compromise could master only 33 votes in the Senate, three short of the number needed to pass the measure.

After further negotiation, Ryan agreed to drop his amendments, and the House voted 107-20 to agree with the Senate version of the bill. Ryan said he would use his veto powers to reduce, but not eliminate, appropriations for the facilities if the Senate concurred with the amendments.

Prisoners assigned to the work camps will be those who were not convicted of violent crimes and who have good records in regular prisons. The vote on the prison camps came just before

Better lighting for parking lots

A contract for improvement of the lighting systems in the "fan" parking lots at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville was awarded by the SIU Board of Trustees last week to Wegman Electric Co. of Wood River.

The contract, in the amount of $60,144, provides for installation of high-intensity lights and for improvements in the electrical systems serving parking facilities on the eastern side of the campus. The facilities are commonly referred to as the "fan" lots because of their shape.

The lighting project includes installation of three high-mount poles, with multiple lighting fixtures on each pole.

Two of the poles, standing 100 feet high, will each have ten 1,000-watt fixtures. The third pole, holding six 1,000-watt fixtures, will be 90 feet high.

There are 11 parking lots in the complex east of University Drive, with space for 3,400 vehicles.

POLICEMAN SUES

Granite City Police Patrolman David R. Polivick has filed a $15,000 lawsuit against Henrietta Schienschang, the result of a Dec. 2, 1977, accident in which cars driven by the two were involved in an accident in the 2700 block of N. Kameoka Road. The suit alleges Mrs. Schienschang changed lanes in her car in front of a police squad car, driven by Polivick, which was on an emergency run and had its red light and siren operating. The cars collided, injuring the officer, according to the suit.

Steelworkers emphasize cost-of-living protection

Wall Street Journal — The United Steelworkers of America named improvements in pension coverage and cost-of-living protection as top priorities in next year's contract negotiations, setting the stage for what may be the toughest bargaining the steel industry has faced in years. At the same time, however, the union noted at the end of a 36-page statement prepared by its wage policy committee that high wage and benefits levels won in previous contracts, have placed some employers at a competitive disadvantage. The statement, which apparently doesn't apply to the basic steelmaking industry where wages are about the same at each facility, said that thousands of jobs have been lost as a result of those prohibitively high wages.

The statement urged negotiators to try to narrow, or eliminate, competitive disadvantages to preserve jobs.

The wage policy statement is one of the first steps in the union's preparations for a separate central negotiations with the steel, aluminum, nonferrous metal and container industries.

The document is intended to serve as a framework for each of the four industry conferences, beginning with the steel industry negotiations in February, followed by talks with the other three industries.

While most of the union's 1.4 million members are covered by one of the four industry conference contracts, a serious competitive disadvantage with other plants or companies that don't pay workers as well.

Lloyd McBride, president of the Steelworkers, said that this portion of the statement addresses a problem the union currently faces at three steel-fabricating plants owned by U.S. Steel Corp.

McBride said he's recommending that union members at U.S. Steel's American Bridge Division plants in Pittsburgh, Ambridge, Pa., and Gary, Ind., accept a company proposal that would restrict the rate at which their wages rise over the next three years.

He said U.S. Steel had convinced him that it couldn't compete in the steel-fabrication business unless employees agreed to limit their wage demands.

He noted that Bethlehem Steel Corp. made a similar proposal to its structural-steel employees a few years ago and closed the division when the employees rejected the wage limitations.

McBride and other union officials added, however, that the union also will make efforts through coordinated bargaining to end wage discrepancies by bringing other workers' pay up to Steelworkers' levels.

Along with U.S. Steel, the union also will make efforts through coordinated bargaining to end wage discrepancies by bringing other workers' pay up to Steelworkers' levels.

union jobs lost in the industry's struggle to cut costs and boost sagging profit. With the nation's economy slowing amid high inflation rates, the outlook is for continued low steel prices and possible more plant closings next year.

Thus, by seeking cost-of-living increases for pensioners, whose benefits currently are set at a fixed level, and by demanding improvements in inflation escalators for active members, the union is asking for hard bargaining with steel industry representatives, who see control of wage rates as necessary in controlling all other costs.

However, in a departure from previous wage-policy statements, the union committee also acknowledged that "negotiating demands and even solid bargaining achievements are meaningless if they aren't any jobs."

The statement said that "literally many thousands of Steelworker jobs have been lost in situations where the union's wages and benefits placed employers at a serious competitive disadvantage" with other plants or companies that don't pay workers as well.

Lloyd McBride, president of the Steelworkers, said that this portion of the statement addresses a problem the union currently faces at three steel-fabricating plants owned by U.S. Steel Corp.

Along with U.S. Steel, the union also will make efforts through coordinated bargaining to end wage discrepancies by bringing other workers' pay up to Steelworkers' levels.

In his wage-policy statement, the union also called for resolution of disputes over use of outside labor to perform certain tasks in steel mills, an obligatory "substantial wage increase," and a shorter workweek coupled with extended vacations.

Although these bargaining goals presage a difficult round of negotiations early next year, there isn't any likelihood of a nationwide steel strike.

In the 1977 negotiations, the steel industry and the union agreed to hold the 1980 talks under the Experimental Negotiating Agreement, which requires that any unresolved issues be submitted to arbitration.

So-called "local issue" strikes are permitted under the agreement, but could disrupt steel output widespread.

American farmers and ranchers provide a classic example for all of us in the importance of true productivity for economic survival.

Agricultural producers do not have the luxury of being able to raise their prices just because they want to. They must compete. Compete with other producers.

Producers not just in our country, or our state, or even our nation, but producers all over the world.

American farmers now have to be productive enough to compete with farmers from every other major country in the world.

Our farmers, with their tremendous capital investments in land and equipment and their complex methods of planting, growing and harvesting, must be able to produce more at a lower final cost than farmers around the world who generally operate with lower expenses. Proof of their unqualified success lies in the billions of bushels of American grain now sold in foreign markets every year. Productivity... the key to success. You can BANK on it!

Along with U.S. Steel, the union also will make efforts through coordinated bargaining to end wage discrepancies by bringing other workers' pay up to Steelworkers' levels.

Multi-earner families rising

A record three out of every five husband-wife families reported in March 1979 that at least two family members were earners during the previous year, the U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics said this week. Since 1970, multi-earner families have increased by more than three million, reaching 28.4 million.

The rising number of multi-earner families has been called one of the most important socio-economic developments of the 1970s. Almost exclusively responsible for this rise have been the steep annual increases in the number and proportion of working wives. Over the decade, their number has grown by about 5.5 million.

Nearly half of all wives 16 years old and over are working or looking for work. Another striking change during the 1970s was the sharp rise in the number of working women solely responsible for the maintenance and welfare of their own families. About one of every nine women in the March 1979 labor force (5 million in all) was either a divorced, separated, widowed or never-married woman who maintained her own family.

Principally because of the rising incidence of divorce, the number of families maintained by women increased substantially over the decade so that, in March 1979, they totaled 8.5 million, or one of every seven families.

Children under 18 were present in about 5.3 million or 63 percent of these families; 66 percent of the mothers in these families were in the labor force.

The number of children whose mothers worked or looked for work rose sharply during the 1970s even though the total number of children in families declined as a consequence of falling birthrates.

By March, 30.1 million children had mothers in the labor force, almost 20 percent more than in 1970.

Slightly over half of all children under 18 living in two-parent families had mothers who were in the labor force, as did over 60 percent of those in single-parent families. Comparable proportions at the beginning of this decade were 38 and 53 percent.

Other survey highlights: 1. The number of mothers in the labor force continued to rise this year, reaching 16.6 million in March. Mothers whose youngest child was school age remained more likely than those with preschool children to be in the labor force, 61.6 and 45.4 percent, respectively. Divorced mothers were more likely to be in the labor force than were mothers of any other marital group.

2. Never-married men and women continued to increase their labor force participation over the year. In March, 70.9 percent of single men and 62.7 percent of single women were in the labor force.

3. The labor force participation rate for married men continued its long-term downward trend. This was true for white, black and Hispanic men. For white wives, the labor force participation rate rose to 48.5 percent over the year, while the rates for black and Hispanic wives (50.7 and 46.3 percent, respectively) did not change significantly.

Arrest man after chase

Gerald M. Gibson, 35, of 2216 Lee Ave., was charged with reckless conduct and battery in state complaints and with five traffic charges after police alleged chasing his car at 8:05 a.m. Sunday.

Patrolman Mike Murgie reported seeing a south-bound car on Madison Avenue at 27th Street which had only one tail light, no front bumper and only one license plate. He used his red lights and siren and the car turned behind Burger Chef Restaurant where it stopped, the officer said.

When Murgie walked to the driver's door, the vehicle sped away, throwing rocks and gravel at the officer, it was alleged. Murgie then got in his squad car and chased the auto south in the alley, then left on 26th Street, left on Washington Avenue and then left again on 28th Street, where Murgie lost sight of the car.

A description of the vehicle was radioed to other police cars and at 8:20 a.m., police located the car in a driveway in the 2900 block of Iowa Street.

The owner of the car was located inside the house and was arrested. Traffic charges lodged against Gibson were for fleeing from police, driving on a suspended driver's license, improper display of license plates, no front bumper and having only one tail light.

'Another World' set for ratings race

By NANCY M. REICHARDT
NEW YORK — "Another World" has been busy snapping up some of the most popular former daytime stars ever. In the past few weeks they have added four important and exciting members to their cast.

Starting off the additions was David Bailey, who resumed his former role as Dr. Russ Matthews. Bailey vacated the role about a year and a half ago when he became disgruntled with the way his "AW" character had been developing. After several commercials and the promise that "Russ" would be a more vibrant character, Bailey consented to return to the serial.

"One Life to Live's" loss is sure to be "AW's" gain now that popular serial star Lee Patterson has joined their cast. Joe Riley's bones had barely been laid to rest on "OLTL" when Lee reappeared as a cardiac specialist ready to move into Bay City's society. Lee had portrayed Joe on "OLTL" for 10 years. As the new and dashing Dr. Cooke on "AW" Lee will surely capture the hearts of several of the town's eligible (and perhaps not so eligible) ladies.

The addition of William Gray Espy to "AW" is nothing short of a coup. The popular actor created the role of Snapper Foster on "The Young and the Restless," shooting to unprecedented popularity with that show's fans. Attempts by other serials to snare the popular young actor failed, but after a three-year hiatus, Espy has returned. In the role of Mitchell Blake, Espy is sure to create trouble in the lives of Mac and his new bride, Janice, since Mitch and Janice shared a mysterious past romantic escapade in New York City.

Janice Lynde, another very popular ex-"Y&R" talent, is the latest addition to the "AW" cast. Miss Lynde, who portrays Tracy DeWitt on "AW," left "Y&R" a couple of years back for greener acting pastures. After some bit parts in films and nighttime TV she decided to return to the more lucrative daytime acting.

While no one can ever say that "Another World" skimps on hiring talent, it seems clear that the show, which set a precedent this year when it became the first 90-minute soap, is clearly out to boost itself into the No. 1 spot in the daytime rating race.

Congratulations to Rita Walter (Carol Stallings on "As the World Turns") and her husband, Rev. Norman Walter, who proudly announced the birth of their first child, a son, on Saturday, Oct. 13.

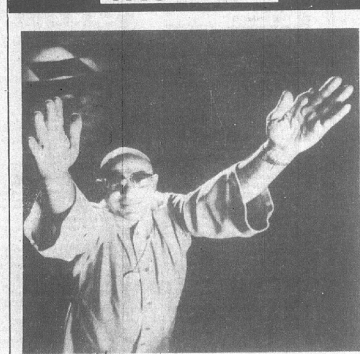

Phyllis Behar (Anna Craig on "One Life to Live") has found a way to combat the "empty nest syndrome." The actress, who has reared three sons — two of them are no longer at home — has put her teaching instincts to use and is conducting acting classes. This is a labor of love for Phyllis, who hopes to convey her love of acting to her students. In addition, the actress has begun to indulge in her favorite hobby, photography, which she also sees taking on increased importance in her life.

When Tony George (Will Vernon on "One Life to Live") feels like "getting away from it all," he heads for someplace warm. Originally from California, Tony finds the long winters in New York City a bit rough. To combat the snow and cold, he is fond of heading for the Florida Keys or a remote island to warm up his bloodstream. For variety, the actor also adds a dash of snorkeling and sailing to his agenda. As Tony says, one of his reasons for heading for a remote spot is that, "There's a lot more respect for privacy than in New York. Even when I'm recognized, people are more apt to realize that I'm here to relax, and allow me my patch of beach."

Metals firm acquires plant

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

The former Young Metal Products plant, 2686 Missouri Ave., has been sold through the Morris Realty Company to L. C. Metals, Inc.

There has been no indication of when L. C. Metals plans to begin use of the property, a spokesman for the new owners said.

Young Metal Products plant has been closed for several months.

The property consists of seven and one-half acres located within the Granite City limits and it is zoned industrial.

There is one steel building about 12 years old on the property, providing 10,640 square feet, plus a 1,200 square foot office building.

An Illinois Terminal Railroad siding with a five-ton crane and a loading area are also located on the site.

Thomas Earls, 23, of 2503 Iowa St., was charged with criminal damage to property at 2:15 a.m. Sunday, after he was identified as the man who allegedly threw a rock through a plate glass window at the Long Branch Tavern, 2105 Grand Ave., a few minutes earlier.

An employee of the tavern, Ernie Martin, said Earls had been told to leave the premises about an hour earlier as he was causing trouble.

Earls was identified by Mrs. Martin and three other people in the tavern as the man who was seen fleeing from the area after the rock smashed the window.

One man who was inside the tavern had chased the vandal, but had lost him.

Police searched the vicinity and Earls was taken into custody at 24th Street and Madison Avenue and returned to the tavern to be identified.

He remained in custody Sunday while an investigation continued.

Sternberg completes Medicolegal course

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
of the Press-Record

Madison County Deputy Coroner William P. Sternberg has successfully completed a comprehensive instruction program at St. Louis University School of Medicine.

The Medicolegal Death Investigation Training Course was sponsored by the university's Division of Forensic and Environmental Pathology.

Sternberg is manager of Davis Funeral Home, 21st Street and Cleveland Boulevard.

He has been employed by the firm for the past nine years and has served as a county deputy coronor for six years.

Course director was George E. Gantner, M.D., Chief Medical Examiner for the City of St. Louis and St. Louis County.

He explained the objectives of the instruction series are to prepare the investigator to conduct scientific, thorough and systematic scene and telephone investigations into deaths which by law are under the jurisdiction of a medicolegal office.

The course also stressed the dissemination of investigative information to departmental forensic scientists to achieve a coordinated, efficient and complete death inquiry.

In essence, the series was designed to increase the investigator's knowledge of the scientific aspects of death investigation regarding medical causes of death, investigative techniques and resources available through ancillary agencies to aid the investigator in determining the cause of action an inquiry should take, the program director said.

Among the lecture topics were:

Sudden and unexpected death, crib death, forensic toxicology, cutting, stabbing and gunshot wounds, rape and sexual assault, aircraft and mass disasters.

Suicide, battered and neglected children, homicide, interviewing, vehicular-related death, drug abuse, autopsy and

United drive at 22%

A noon luncheon in the YMCA auditorium was the setting for the second United Way fall campaign report meeting Friday.

William Donovan presided at the meeting due to the absence of George Knecht, 1978 campaign chairman. Donovan was chairman of the 1978 drive which resulted in pledges totaling $601,913.

Prior to the business part of the meeting, Sister Jan Rens, principal of the Catholic Children's Home

Special Education program, sang several songs and accompanied herself on the guitar.

Fair Share award winners were given certificates for their efforts. They include: the Carpenters' District Council, American Heritage Bank, Illinois Motel, Granite City Press-Record, Illinois Bell Telephone Co.

Also, Arnette Pattern Co., River Bluffs Girl Scout Council, Illinois-American Water Co. and Shell Oil Co.

Special recognition was given to three persons present at the meeting.

Recognized were Jack Grieves, UW drive chairman for St. Elizabeth Medical Center, which increased pledges by $2,124, a new SEMC record.

Christ Pashoff, Madison

School District coordinator for the UW, was instrumental in the completion of contacts by units and divisions.

Robert Jackson, American-Illinois Water Co., was the third recognized—for being the first to complete all calls in the largest unit (in terms of accounts). He is a business and commercial unit chairman.

A total of $163,430 to date was announced by Donovan. It is 22 percent of this year's goal.

Individual group reports were as follows: Special Donors, $5,033; Professions, $22,965; Government Employees, $20,294; Business and Commercial, $44,890; and Industry, Construction and Transportation, $70,338.

Also recognized during the lunch-hour meeting were volunteers who have completed their accounts.

These include: Vince Saputo, Mary Tarpoff, Harold Rush, Dave Knollman, Bobby Patton, Ray Smith, Bob McMillian, Jo Meyer, Paul Sodko, Howard Schuenke, Leonard Moore, Neal Konardy and Russ Suda.

The next report meeting will be at the YMCA on Wednesday, Nov. 21, with lunch being served at 11:45 a.m.

Sunset law on state's regulation

The Illinois Department of Registration and Education, which licenses and regulates certain professional and occupational groups, supports the new "Sunset" law which Governor James R. Thompson has signed.

Department Director Joan G. Anderson said it is the intent of the new law that no profession or occupation shall be subject to the state's regulatory power unless the exercise of such power is necessary to protect the public health, safety or welfare from significant and discernible harm or damage.

A newly established committee will review licensing and regulatory functions and recommend continuance, modification or repeal of the requirements.

Lunch will be served until 4 p.m., with carryout service available.

The Ladies of St. Margaret Mary will display the group's handmade bazaar items for sale at the festival.

Several gifts will be offered, including a man's Sanyo wristwatch, donated by Mr. and Mrs. Willis Forrest.

The Plavi Dunav Tambozians will provide music for listening and dancing throughout the afternoon. Several members of St. Margaret Mary Parish are planning to attend mass wearing ethnic costumes, it was learned.

Winter car care tips offered by Chief Veizer

With fuel costs at all-time highs and undoubtedly going higher, Granite City's Chief of Police Ronald J. Veizer reminded motorists today that early winter vehicle tune-ups are more important than ever because of fuel conservation problems coupled with the usual winter driving problems of inadequate traction and reduced visibility.

In view of continuing concerns about energy conservation and pollution controls, engine tune-ups and good vehicle maintenance are critical to getting through the winter months as economically as possible and without mechanical failures," Chief Veizer said.

"First and most importantly, have your engine tuned by a competent mechanic. A tune-up, such as the one we give our patrol and emergency vehicles, should include inspection of the electrical system, timing, points (newer cars use electronic ignition systems without points), plugs and the emission control devices on late model cars. This will reduce fuel consumption, while at the same time assure dependable starting at low temperatures and fewer stalls in traffic," he said.

A balky car in traffic and under winter conditions is a sure way to start a traffic tie-up, the chief contended.

In addition to the basic tune-up, he urged vehicle owners to heed the equipment recommendations developed by the National Safety Council and endorsed by the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

Check the heater and defroster system. It must clear fog and frost off your windshield and keep it clear. Check the thermostat or adjustments on late model cars. Include the rear window defroster if your vehicle has one.

Inspect the windshield wipers. They may have dried out in summer heat. Live replacement blades are inexpensive and do a better job of wiping away slush and snow without streaking. Check your washer solution for adequate anti-freeze protection, the chief suggested.

The lights must be in perfect working order. Check for and replace burned out bulbs and broken or cracked lenses. Winter grime and road salt corrode sockets and reflectors. Clean all lights frequently during winter.

Check the brakes. Poorly adjusted, grabbing or failing brakes can force your vehicle into an uncontrolled skid on slippery pavements. Have the brakes checked and adjusted by a competent mechanic — before trouble starts, he suggested.

Inspect the tires. Good tread is important all year around, but especially so when pavements are covered with snow and ice. Snow tires are particularly helpful for pulling through loosely packed snow, but offer little advantage in stopping on icy pavements. Studded tires (where legal) improve both stopping and pulling ability under icy conditions.

Tire chains remain your best traction aid in deep snow or glare ice conditions. Carry them in your trunk and be prepared to use them for severe snow and ice driving, he suggested.

Emergency equipment in your trunk should include booster cables, sand or rock salt, traction mats, a shovel, safety flares or reflectors, a tow chain or strap, emergency lighting equipment (with fresh batteries), extra windshield washer solvent, a window scraper and paper towels, heavy gloves and extra winter clothing, he said.

"Check your car, then double-check your driving habits," Chief Veizer concluded. "Safe and economical winter driving requires a little extra time, a little slower speed, a little extra care and a lot more common sense," he added.

CLASS ON RESPONSE TO HEART ATTACKS
More than 27 million Americans have some major type of heart or blood vessel disease. Hundreds of thousands will die of heart attacks this year, more than half before they ever reach a hospital. With this in mind, a Basic Life Support Program developed by the American Heart Association will be held Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the main campus of Belleville Area College in Room 1410. Qualified instructors will teach how to recognize early warning signs of a heart attack, to act quickly to summon emergency care, and to perform life support techniques of cardiopulmonary resuscitation when necessary.

The main campus of BAC may be reached by calling 235-2700, or toll-free from Granite City 274-4673.

The VFW Ladies Auxiliary is sponsoring a dinner dance Friday at the post home, 204 Washington Ave. Dinner will be served from 7 to 8 p.m. Dancing will follow with a country and western band.

A Time For Thanksgiving

And a time for See's Candy - the gift for all seasons and reasons, even for yourself!

See's Candy is so right, too, for these times. The price of $3.90 a pound, in any assortment, is astonishingly low for candy of such quality.

Yet the old time tradition behind Mary See's motto - Quality Without Compromise - remains as honest and wholesome as it was 58 years ago, when her candies first became a Happy Habit® during the holiday season of 1921.

And there's still time to send See's Candy or a See's Gift Certificate by mail.

See's famous mincemeat creams are available again for the holidays.
